International Economic Conference Opened Today

DELEGATES GATHER IN THE HAGUE

United States Represented At Conclave Unofficially As An Observer
MANY NEW PROBLEMS
Fate of Meeting Hinges on What Concessions Will Be Made by Diplomats

BY FREDERICK KUH
United Press Staff Correspondent
THE HAGUE, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Spokesmen for France and Germany stood on the same platform here today at the opening of the Reparations conference and voiced appeals for good will and fraternity.
Aristide Briand, premier and foreign minister of France, responded to the welcome of Dutch Foreign Minister F. Beelaerts Van Blokland when the conference convened at 11:13 a. m., and was followed directly by Gustave Stresemann, the brilliant foreign minister of Germany.
"We come here for the most difficult task," Briand said, "but I am certain that with good will, we can succeed and in so doing we will serve not only the interests of the nations directly involved but humanity as a whole. I am convinced that every nation now understands the lesson on interdependence of nations which the great war taught us. And when we leave the Hague I am sure we will have made one more contribution towards peace."
Stresemann said the deliberations of the conference would not be purely economic and financial but of a highly political nature.
"While the entire conference should result in a new world wide economic orientation," he said, "it also should result in a new collaboration on a basis of equality, fraternity and the fullest sovereignty of the nations which participated in the war."
Van Blokland in welcoming the distinguished delegates to one of the most important conferences since the treaty parley at Versailles, said he was sure they would "find here that spirit of impartiality and also tranquility which is necessary for the success of your labors—labors which constitute the final organization of the peace of Europe."

Compton Youths Jailed On Charge Of Stealing Plane

COMPTON, Calif., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Two Compton youths today were able to tell a stirring story of adventure in the air, but their audience is composed of those who, for some reason or other, are in jail.
Last Sunday two local aviators reported their plane stolen. Various reports of the phantom aircraft drifted to the owners and yesterday the wreckage was found.
It appeared that Clarence Unroe, 16, novice pilot, had decided to take William Morrow, also 16, for a tour of the skies.
After several landings the young pilot finally "cracked up."
Both boys were arrested today without a scratch and Morrow with a few bruises.

Arizona Dam Bursts Under Heavy Rains

No Lives Reported Lost as Inhabitants of Country Flee to Highlands

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Littlefield dam in Arizona, about 100 miles from Las Vegas, went out last night under pressure of a cloudburst in the mountains, according to reports received here early today.
No lives were known to have been lost. Inhabitants had been warned and had time to flee to higher ground. Hundreds of head of livestock were drowned as the waters swept through the village and covered the valley.
The town of Bunkerville also was reported caught by the cloudburst. All residents, however, escaped to the hills, it was said. The Los Angeles highway was impassable for some distance.
Three deaths have been reported in cloudbursts in California and Nevada. Engineer L. Quinn and an unidentified fireman were killed when a freight train on the Tonopah and Tidewater railroad went through a washed-out bridge near Baker, Calif. Another man was drowned near Milan, Calif., the sheriff's office at El Centro learned.
The Littlefield dam, partially constructed, was located on the Virgin river, a tributary of the Colorado, about 75 miles above the proposed site of Boulder dam.
The barrier was all rock and had reached only half its height. It was understood here that the flood waters struck it.
The Virgin river drains Zion National park in Utah.
Because of the lack of communications it was difficult to get exact information of the damage done by the flood. The dam gave way when cloudbursts struck in the district after the Virgin river already was at flood stage because of heavy rains in Utah.
Quinn and the fireman, Myron Taggs, were carried to death when their locomotive plunged through a bridge weakened by a cloudburst. Information of the accident came from the railroad since there are no wire or telephone communications with the district.
Automobile traffic to and from Los Angeles, California, was almost at a standstill with roads and bridges washed out.
Union Pacific trains still were operating hours behind schedule because of the flood damages.
The Imperial valley in California was without train service with the Southern Pacific attempting to repair rail damages between Niland and El Centro.

MAC DONALD, DAWES HOLD CONFERENCE

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who last week left for his home, Lloessmouth, Scotland, for a vacation, returned to London unexpectedly today for an immediate conference with U. S. Ambassador Dawes.
As he stepped off his train from Lloessmouth the prime minister declared:
"I came to London to see Dawes. I expect to see him today."
The statesman said he would return to Lloessmouth later in the week.

GOV. TRUMBULL HITS HIGH COURT

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Governor John H. Trumbull rebuked the state's highest judicial tribunal, the supreme court of errors, in his message today to a special session of the general assembly called to validate more than 1500 laws declared by the court to have been unconstitutional signed.
In his message the executive declared the court had interfered with his duties as chief executive officer of the state.

BANK EXAMINER ARREST SOUGHT AS EMBEZZLER

More Than 150 Complaints Accuse Firm Failing to Deliver Shares

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—A warrant was out today charging with embezzlement, J. B. Greenfield, former national bank examiner in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Michigan and head of the bond brokerage firm of J. B. Greenfield & Co., maintaining offices in Chicago and Detroit.
Records of the concern were seized by Assistant State's Attorney Arthur Carlsen who is investigating complaints that the company has defrauded customers—many of them entrusted with widows' estates and other fiduciary funds—of more than $500,000.
Greenfield, said to be an alumnus of the University of Michigan, is reported to be in Detroit.
The warrant was sworn out by Miss Anna Horner, niece of Judge Henry Horner and one of the victims of the alleged swindle. In good faith she had persuaded friends to make investments with the company, it was said.
Action was taken against Greenfield after he failed to keep a promise to place $500,000 in the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Carlsen by noon yesterday to make good on undelivered securities. A subpoena duces tecum then was issued for the company's records.
The firm, in recent months, has been dealing almost exclusively in trustee Standard Oil shares at approximately $14.75 each, Carlsen said. This stock is being floated by Dwellly Pearce & Co., of New York, according to Carlsen, and is being handled by Chicago firms. Now, because of the embezzlement charges, the Dwellly-Pearce company has cancelled its contract with the Greenfield concern, the prosecutor asserted.
More than 150 complaints accusing Greenfield's firm of failing to deliver shares that were paid for have reached the state's attorney's office in the last three days, Carlsen revealed. Many were from women, several of whom threatened to commit suicide unless they regained their money. All produced receipts, some of which dated back to last April.

WEALTHY REALTY MAN TAKES LIFE

OAKLAND, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Charles Locke-Paddon, wealthy real estate man and broker, took his life here yesterday by shooting himself with a rifle.
Paddon returned from a visit with his parents in Canada a few days ago. Friends said since his wife obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce he had been despondent.
There were no witnesses to the shooting, which occurred in front of a home formerly occupied by the broker and his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Paddon.
Mrs. Paddon and the 12-year-old daughter of the couple, Patricia, are on a vacation at a mountain resort. Paddon was 59 years of age.

Gambling Ship Law Is Passed By Supervisors

That ordinance drawn up by the district attorney's office and designed to prohibit the transportation, conveying or carrying of any person from within the borders of Orange county to any gambling ship, boat, vessel, or water craft of any kind anchored in the waters off the county coast line, was passed by the unanimous vote of the county supervisors in their session this morning at the court house.
The ordinance was first framed when the situation arose with the Johanna Smith, a gambling vessel anchored off the coast, where it was easily accessible to Orange county folk.

Naval Board To Report On November 1

Committee That Looked at Dirigible Base Sites Here Back Home

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Naval officers have under consideration sites for the location of the United States' greatest airship base on the Pacific Coast, Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, former skipper of the Los Angeles said today.
He had returned from inspection with a naval board the Pacific coast area from Puget Sound to the Mexican border. No selection was made, he said, but the board will report to Secretary of Navy Adams by Nov. 1.
Need for the new base was created, Rosendahl explained by orders for construction of the ZRS4 and ZRS5 which will have the status of fleet scouts. The ZRS4 is under construction at Akron, O. Her gas capacity of 6,500,000 cubic feet will be twice that of Graf Zeppelin and she will be 789 feet long, 13 feet longer than the German craft.
"These two ships must be housed after they are delivered and we have no room for them here," Rosendahl said.
Rosendahl, Lieut. J. C. Richardson and C. P. Burgess, civilian aeronautical engineer attached to the navy department, will represent the navy on the Graf's round-the-world flight. The former is the dean of naval lighter than aircraft men. On May 9 he completed three years' service as commander of the Los Angeles and was relieved to command the ground school here.

Lindbergh Confers On Aerial Survey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh conferred today with the members of the Bolivian-Paraguayan commission of conciliation and inquiry as an expert consultant on the feasibility of making an aerial survey of the little known Chaco region, the ownership of which is disputed by the two South American countries.

BASEBALL RESULTS

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Babe Ruth hit his 26th home run of the 1929 season, with the bases full in the fifth inning of the second game with Washington here today.

SUSPENSION OF CRUISER WORK CAUSES TANGLE

President's Act Upheld and Disapproved By Senators In Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The announced plans of Senator William H. King Democrat, Utah, to propose a senate resolution specifically approving President Hoover's suspension of cruiser building, threatens to cause some embarrassment to the administration. The fear is that "big navy" talk in congress, would be unloosed by such a proposal and embarrass Mr. Hoover's disarmament conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald here in October. If a congressional outbreak occurred similar to that made by Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, in a statement Sunday, the cause of naval reduction might suffer in the public opinion of both countries, it was believed.
Mr. Hoover and MacDonald have been relying heavily during the discussions so far, upon force of public opinion and this is why debate with a "big navy" slant is unwelcome.
From the White House and 10 Downing Street the naval negotiations have dominated all press and public discussion of the subject. The big navy group in the United States, while making several protests against possible scrapping of the new cruiser program, have not been able to maintain a continued discussion of the subject which might keep their fight effectively before the public.
At the White House, President Hoover is described as confident of his legal authority to hold up construction of the ships until June 30, 1931.
Most of the "big navy" advocates have conceded that a short suspension is legal, but that under the law the construction of the three cruisers involved, and two more, must be started within 11 months, or before the end of the present fiscal year.
In other words, President Hoover faces trouble unless a formal reduction agreement is reached by next June 30—and if the agreement should provide for scrapping of any of the new cruisers, there

Expenditures Of $727,561 Provided For

More Than Half This to Be Raised By Taxes—Rest By Other Sources

THE BUDGET prepared by City Manager W. G. Knox and city department heads was adopted by the city council last night providing for the expenditure of $727,561.70 for the ensuing year for conducting the business affairs of the city of Santa Ana.
Of this total $393,120 is expected to be secured through taxes at a rate of $1.89; $283,005 from other sources of income such as water department revenues; and the balance will be made up out of balances now on hand at the close of the fiscal year.
Operating funds take by far the bulk of the expenditures provided for in the budget that was approved last night, with a total of $563,660. These are divided as follows: General fund, $240,565; street fund, $87,795; fire fund, $38,650; water fund, $143,750; and sewer fund, $4900. Special fund expenditures are estimated on the following schedule: Advertising $10,000; park, $4725; planning commission, $775; street improvement $5000; band, $11,000; and library, $32,000.
Bond funds are set aside at $9000 and interest and sinking funds reach a total of $91,401.70. The latter cover such items as street improvements, water bonds, sewers, fire apparatus and so forth.
The estimated tax rate is made up of $1.21 on the general fund, 27c on the special funds, and 41c on the interest and sinking funds, for a total of $1.89.
Estimated total funds available for the operation of the city's affairs is listed at $835,787.06 leaving a margin of safety totaling $108,225.36, according to the budget that has been prepared by the city manager and the heads of the various departments.

AMBASSADOR HONOR GUEST AT BANQUET

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Carlos Davila, Chilean ambassador to the United States, was the honor guest of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday, attending luncheon with his military and naval attaches, and accompanied by Governor Young of California, with various other officials.
Ambassador Davila commented on the rapid growth of trade and friendly understanding between Chile and the United States, tracing the development of the relations from the early days before Chile was one of the "A.B.C. powers."
"By purchasing in Latin America the United States is developing its own future market," the ambassador noted, speaking of the vast potentialities and need for capital and development in the southern continent.

MAURETANIA BEATS ONE-DAY RECORDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(UP)—For the second successive day the Cunard liner Mauretania has beaten all its previous one-day speed records in an effort to shatter the Bremen's record of 4 days 17 hours 42 minutes for the trans-Atlantic crossing from Cherbourg to New York.
From noon yesterday to noon today, the pride of the Cunard fleet totalled 687 nautical miles, averaging 27.48 knots, compared with 680 nautical miles made the day before, according to a radio message from Captain McNail.
Cunard officials here said the Mauretania now expects to reach quarantine here at 10 a. m., Thursday. If she does, she will have set a new mark of 4 days 13 hours and 8 minutes. The liner left Cherbourg at 4:52 p. m., Greenwich mean time Saturday.

CONCLAVE HEAD

R. R. Davis, of Fullerton who is general chairman of the state convention of firemen which opens in Fullerton tomorrow.

STATE FIREMEN OPEN MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

Governor Young Will Speak At Opening Session In Fullerton

GOVERNOR YOUNG will be present for the opening of the California Firemen's association convention in Fullerton Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, it was announced today by officers of the association. Young is slated to speak briefly.
Delegates were arriving today from all parts of the state for the convention. Officers of the organization were in conference today at the California hotel arranging last minute details.
Business meetings during the day will be held at the Fox Mission theater. The evenings will be given over to entertainment.
Delegates will register in the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce office. Badges will be issued there and rooms assigned by the housing committee.
Business men plan to attend the city council meeting tonight for the purpose of asking the council to order street lights kept burning all night during the convention.

U. S. ATTORNEY FREE OF THEFT CHARGES

MERCED, Calif., Aug. 6.—(UP)—United States District Attorney George J. Hatfield of San Francisco, is not a "cattle rustler," even in a technical sense.
A case charging Hatfield and two others with taking cows belonging to J. E. Mount, Hilmar Farmer, two years ago, was dismissed in the court of Justice of the Peace McConnell at Livingston.
The sole point at issue in the case was whether cattle returned to Mount after they had wandered onto the land of Floyd R. Stevenson, millionaire land owner and one of the defendants, were the same as lost by Mount.
Hatfield intimated he might sue Mount for damages because of unpleasant notoriety gained from Mount's charges.

Wife Of Telephone Chief Gets Decree On Neglect Charge

RENO, Nev., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Testimony in the divorce of Florence Pitman Gifford from Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, was made public today, after Mrs. Gifford had been granted a decree behind closed doors.
The complaint and testimony revealed Gifford was so wrapped up with the commercial success of the corporation of which he is head that he was unmindful of his wife and of his home.
Mrs. Gifford further claimed that her husband's ideas about society differed so from hers that they could not live together.
Publicity was given to the charges after Judge George A. Bartlett, before whom the case was tried, held a conference with the attorney and with newspaper representatives.

COMMANDER LOOKS FOR HARD TRIP

Unknown Perils Are In Store on Round-World Jaunt, Says Eckener

ROUTE IS UNDECIDED
Entire Voyage Will Be Over 22,000 Miles and to Be Completed September 3

BY LYLE C. WILSON
LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Perils unknown even to such hardy adventurers as the Graf Zeppelin on its round-the-world flight, in the opinion of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible.
The long cruise is scheduled to start from here Wednesday at midnight and 60 men worked today at the job of refueling the great airship. It is expected the work would be finished before tomorrow evening.
Dr. Eckener believes the most formidable obstacles in the way of realization of his dream of an aerial circumnavigation of the world will be encountered in the silences over the Siberian tundra wastes, between Friedrichafen and Tokio.
To avert the dangers of trans-oceanic passage are admitted to be powerful reasons for gathering essential information from either shore. Scores of well wishing surface ships are ready to pick up, and if necessary, retransmit these weather observations to their aerial competitor. Upon the basis of this constant flow of data, navigation officers of the Graf Zeppelin chart their winding course.
Asia offers no radio protection to aerial navigators. There are not even adequate maps. For land marks, Eckener must utilize the great rivers which twist through the Russo-Asiatic plains. Germany's great wireless stations at Naumen will keep in touch with the Graf. But Naumen will have no means of predicting weather conditions ahead of the dirigible. Always ahead will be the Tundra horizon beckoning the craft forward to unknown danger. Eckener will sleep more soundly when that stretch is passed.
The Pacific ocean apparently concerns Eckener but slightly. He will fly north of ship lanes, along the Aleutian island group to the

300 MEN FIGHTING FIRE IN OKLAHOMA

POTEAU, Okla., Aug. 6.—(UP)—More than 200 volunteers today were fighting 26 separate forest fires which already have burned 10,000 acres of land in three counties of southeastern Oklahoma.

Three men were in hospitals today overcome by the heat.
Clare O. Doster, district forester, today issued an emergency call for more men to battle the flames, which started in the mountains and have been fanned by high winds. Doster said the situation was "critical."

5 Sought For Starting Forest Fire

SAN JOSE, Aug. 6.—Alex Davidson and E. W. Miller, of San Mateo, and Coy Winkle, Tony La Monia and John Ghera, of Hollister, were sought today by police in connection with the Pacheco pass fire, which burned over 35,000 acres in three different counties.
Warrants for their arrest on charges of trespassing followed the report that hunters had been the cause of the devastating fire, which created heavy loss to cattle-men in grazing lands.
The Pacheco pass fire was reported well under control but word came from Modoc that a new outbreak had burned over 2000 acres in a national forest in Columbia canyon.

vicinity of Seattle, Wash., where he will turn south to his first American stop at Los Angeles. A new test awaits the Graf Zeppelin between Los Angeles and Lakehurst on the final lap during which the Rocky mountain chain must be crossed in the vicinity of Tucson, Ariz. Valleys are more to a Zeppelin's liking. The atmosphere into which Rocky mountain peaks thrust upward is light in comparison to that nearer sea level and the lifting power of the Graf's hydrogen bags will be reduced in proportion.

"Our route will depend on weather conditions," Eckener explained. "I would like to take the northern route through Siberia and down the coast of Saghalien to Tokio but we may have to follow the trans-Siberian railway."

That will be the most difficult part of our journey—over Siberia to Japan.

"We have no maps and there are no radio stations and we must depend on big rivers for our positions. It is my desire that we avoid the southern route because of high altitude of its deserts."

"An extra motor and a mechanic await us in case of need in Tokio. From there we will strike across the Pacific, picking up the Aleutian Islands to give our passengers something to look at and to enable us to check our position. We will strike the American coast near Seattle and go south to Los Angeles."

"It will be about 6,000 miles from Germany to Tokio but I cannot predict the round-world distance. Perhaps 22,000 miles would approximate our journey; it will depend upon weather conditions."

"We will return here September 3 or 4. If we get tail winds it will be sooner."

City Officials Off In Quest Of Mountain Trout

A party of city officials and prominent business and professional men will leave Santa Ana this afternoon by motor car for a trip to Florence lake, in the High Sierras, where they will spend a week's vacation fishing.

The party will camp near the Edison tunnel.

Included in the party is City Clerk Vegley, Mayor Frank Purinton, City Councilmen Bill Kelly and Stanley Goode, City Engineer Clyde Jenken, County Superintendent of Highways Nat Neff, Otto Haan, John Harrison, H. L. Johnson, Fred Chapman, A. McWhennay and Dr. Gerhardt.

County Assumes Part Of Expense Of Orange Street

That portion of West Chapman avenue, Orange, between Batavia and Main streets, upon which a 12-foot strip of concrete has just been laid on either side of the pavement as a means of widening the street, cost exactly $8612.55 and Ross Miller, mayor of the neighboring city, today submitted a proposition to the supervisors that they assume 25 per cent of the indebtedness as the widening of the street was of as much importance to the county as a whole as to the city of Orange. The board will act on the matter at next Tuesday's meeting.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM OF BREAKFAST CLUB

An unusually entertaining program has been planned for Thursday's meeting of the Breakfast club by the program chairman, Robert Walker, assisted by Roy Lyon and Eugene Douglas.

Baroness Octilia de Ropp, of the Baltic province Latvia, who now is connected with the Better American Federation, in Los Angeles, will talk on "Why I Love America." The Baroness' familiarity with foreign conditions, her entertaining manner of speaking and her experience in the Better American Federation promise to make the subject doubly interesting and worthwhile.

Miss Margaret Gaebe, well known reader, will give a pianologue, with accompaniment by Miss Ruth Armstrong. A banjo act by Dayton Alexander will be another feature of the program. William Murphy, national commander of Disabled Veterans, will be guest of honor at the meeting.

TEMPORARY DANCE PERMIT IS REFUSED

Fred Miller, Sunset Beach cafe and restaurant proprietor, represented by his attorney, O. A. Jacobs, appeared today before the county supervisors, asking for a temporary permit to allow dancing in his cafe until his recently applied for license is issued.

Miller has a small dance floor and an orchestra in his cafe, just as an accommodation to his dinner patrons, and when two couples danced there informally last week he was arrested because of the violation of the recently passed ordinance requiring a dance hall license, it was said.

The supervisors refused to act in the matter, explaining that there would be little delay in having such a license issued and a temporary permit would be useless.

CHILDREN LEARN COMMUNISM

Young communists, these are, and they're being schooled in communism by Miss Eva Stolar, director of the summer camp for Chicago and Milwaukee "red" youngsters sponsored by the Workers' International Relief at Paddock's Lake, near Kenosha, Wis. In addition to usual camping activities, the child "reds" listen daily to lectures on class struggle and revolutionary preparedness. The campers remain two weeks and then another group takes their place.

GREAT NATIONS OF WORLD OPEN MEETING TODAY

Briand stated in his brief address that Holland had enabled the delegates to work under the most propitious conditions and asserted the Hague was the symbol of peace.

"I am convinced that all peoples are vitally interested in peace resulting from this conference," he said.

Stresemann evidently identifying himself with Briand's plan for a United States of Europe made this significant declaration:

"In my mind's eye, I see a world economic conference which will examine the possibilities of alleviating difficulties in trade and commerce and which will raise the nations of the earth from the level of retail traders to great unified centers of international efficiency. I hope the time will come when we can look down upon this period as Germany now looks down upon the days when there was separate German states with their own coinage, own borders and customs which made life difficult for themselves and others."

Clearly referring to the problem of the proposed evacuation of the Rhineland, Stresemann asserted:

"International co-operation must be based on perfect equality and absolute respect for sovereign rights."

"It has seemed to me lately that the pulse beats of peace and conciliation have grown weaker. Nothing could be more dangerous than allowing the peoples' hopes to be thwarted."

"I hope that this conference lends new impetus to the pulse of peace and our negotiations here dispel widespread disappointment."

Police News

C. F. Huyler, 37, merchant, of Midway City, who was booked in the county jail last night for violation of the state pay check law, was released on his own recognizance by Justice K. E. Morrison.

Sentenced to a term in jail for indecent exposure, John Kubik, 35, native of Czechoslovakia, a Los Angeles laborer, was brought to the county jail late yesterday afternoon from Seal Beach by Officer C. L. Mitchell.

Disturbing the peace was the charge that landed Wayne O. Hanson, 22, salesman, of 4759 Baltimore street, Los Angeles, behind the bars in the county jail yesterday afternoon.

Theft of a tungar battery charger, valued at $25, from his garage at 1012 Cypress street, was reported to Santa Ana police today by L. S. Haven.

The telephoned report of a Mexican fight in a court on West Fifth street, last night, was investigated by Detective Sgt. E. E. Perry. He reported back that there was no fight on West Fifth street and that he was unable to trace the call.

A woman living at a North Park boulevard address, who became frightened when someone knocked at her door and then left immediately, phoned for an officer at 7:45 last night. Sgt. Perry and Officer Paul Cozad responded, but could find no prowler.

Court Notes

T. Omari, resident of Delhi, who was recently arrested on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor was fined $250 when he pled guilty to the charge yesterday afternoon before Justice Kenneth Morrison. Omari paid the fine.

Clement Gandau plead not guilty to a charge of reckless driving when he was arraigned before Justice Morrison yesterday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $500 and the examination was set for 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, August 13.

A jail sentence of 90 days and suspension of his operator's license was the penalty meted out to John Steenberg after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor before Justice Kenneth Morrison yesterday afternoon. The prisoner was paroled after being given a six month's jail sentence by the superior court on a similar charge about 18 months ago, court officials stated yesterday.

MOTORIST DRAWS $50 CONTEMPT FINE

Failure to appear in court July 25 to answer to a traffic charge, after he was released on $500 bail, cost R. C. Griffith, veterinary surgeon for the Arden dairies, in El Monte, a $50 fine for contempt when he was surrendered by his bondsmen in the court of Justice Kenneth Morrison yesterday afternoon.

The examination was set for 9 a. m. August 13, and Griffith was lodged in the county jail, this time under $2000 bail, pending the hearing.

The complaint filed against Griffith charges that he was driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was fined by State Traffic Officer B. A. Craig.

is still likelihood of much opposition.

In addition to Swanson, Chairman Hale of the senate naval affairs committee and Chairman Britten of the house committee have issued statements, which indicated clearly that they will insist on fulfillment of the present cruiser program, which will not even bring the United States to actual tonnage equality with Great Britain, according to navy department data.

Consequently, President Hoover is expected to withhold any support from King's proposal. If he can control the Republican senators, the majority will preserve a strictly "hands off" attitude. Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee is convinced the legality of the suspension, for the next 11 months at least, cannot be questioned. After that, he is doubtful.

HISTORICAL SPOTS WILL BE MARKED

Terry E. Stephenson, who has been appointed to the historical markings committee of the Southern California advisory council of the California Development association, will meet with the committee at 9:30 Friday morning in the Hotel Alexandria, in Los Angeles.

At that time a report will be drawn up to be presented before the advisory council Friday noon at a luncheon in the same hotel.

The result of this meeting will be the marking of historical spots throughout the southern part of the state.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Black and daughters, the Misses Gretchen and Virginia Black left Sunday for a two weeks motor trip to Seattle.

A convenient modern package—for a convenient modern shortening

NEW

It seems only right that a creamy easy-to-use shortening like Snowdrift should be packed in these new convenient cans.

You'll agree that they are quite an improvement after you've tried one of the new three or six pound cans. Conveniently proportioned—almost as wide as they are tall and as easy to spoon from as an old-fashioned earthenware crock.

And the design of the can is new too—interesting and modern in blue and white—almost as appealing as Snowdrift itself. A convenient modern package for a convenient modern shortening.

The creamy consistency of Snowdrift makes it very, very easy to work with—it mixes in a jiffy with just a few stirs of the spoon and is always ready to use—never too hard when it comes from the refrigerator, never too soft when it has been standing in the kitchen.

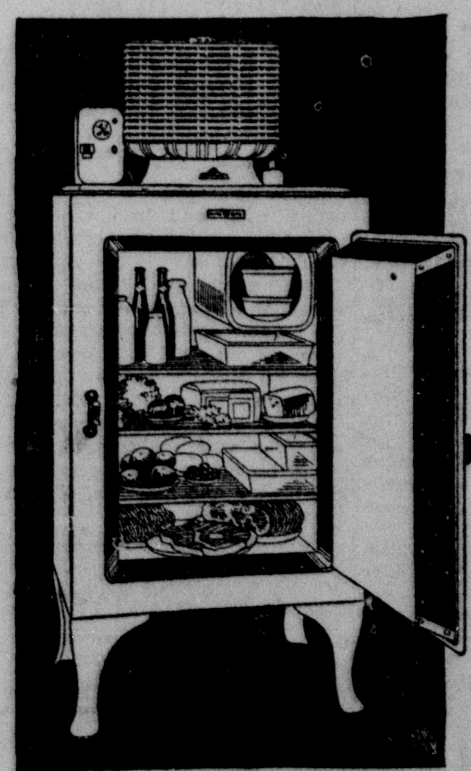

Snowdrift makes so many good things to eat—cakes, biscuits, muffins, pie crust. And for delicate fried food there simply isn't any better frying fat than Snowdrift.

More than 300,000 owners and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs or service!

THIS RECORD STANDS ALONE

..we challenge comparison!

So far not one owner of a General Electric Refrigerator has had to pay a single dollar for repairs or service. It is General Electric's answer to those who ask "Is electric refrigeration out of the experimental stage?"

The first people who bought these refrigerators when they were introduced more than two years ago, bought them on faith. They knew that if General Electric engineers worked for fifteen years to perfect a product, that product would have outstanding advantages. Their faith has been justified.

The simple, worry-free, hermetically sealed mechanism of the General Electric was hailed as revolutionary. It established entirely new standards of service, of quiet operation, of economy. Today the General Electric is the one and only refrigerator which has an all-steel cabinet—warp-proof and rugged as a safe, with rounded corners for easy cleaning. See these refrigerators. ## BOARD DISCUSSES BUILDING PLANS

In anticipation of the need of space in the county courthouse and hall of records, the supervisors discussed the establishment of a fund for a new building connecting the present structures. It is believed, if present plans are carried out, that the 1930 budget will allow a sum of $125,000 for the beginning of the work. At this rate, according to Willard Smith, it would take two years to accumulate the money necessary for the building of the first half of the unit, as the completed structure would cost approximately a half million dollars.

THREE CHARGES FILED AGAINST ANAHEIM PAIR

Nick Glavian and H. Phelps, who were arrested Saturday in a raid on the Lemke ranch, east of Anaheim, are being held in the county jail today under bail amounting to $12,500 each as a result of charges that have piled up on the pair.

The men were arraigned in the court of Justice Koehel, in Anaheim, this morning, on complaints charging possession and manufacture. Bail was set at $500 each on the possession count and $2000 each on the other count. Preliminary examinations on the second count are scheduled for August 13 and a jury trial on the first charge is set for September 3.

After leaving the justice court the prisoners were taken to the Anaheim city court, where, as a result of being identified as the operators of a still west of Anaheim, which was captured August 1, they were arraigned on charges of owning and operating a still. Bail was set at $10,000 each on this count and the preliminary was set for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Identification as the operators of the still at the corner of North and West streets, in Anaheim was positively made yesterday afternoon, when several witnesses immediately picked the two men out from a group of prisoners in the county jail, according to Bob Sandon, special investigator for the district attorney's office, who has been aiding in the apprehension and prosecution of the men.

Phelps was identified as the truck driver who brought in supplies and hauled the product to market and Glavian was identified as one of the operators of the still, it was said.

COSTA MESANS REQUEST AID IN SETBACK FIGHT

Costa Mesa residents are much perturbed in regard to the existing condition of the sidewalk in their village since the completion of the street widening project which makes the wide boulevard such a popular route to the sea.

In accordance with the widening program, property owners of the village with buildings on the main boulevard all set their buildings back or else remodelled the front to allow for the desired 14-foot pavement, with the single exception of F. O. Ross, a non-resident owner, now in Farm-land, Ill.

According to prominent Costa Mesans, who appeared this morning before the board of supervisors, asking its aid in the matter, Ross, a former Costa Mesa resident, was one of the first to advocate the new property line and the widening of the street. But since his removal to Illinois, he has refused to join the other owners in the change, with the result that his building is the single one standing out from the rest and will front directly on the widened highway. This, according to Judge C. P. Diehl, spokesman for the group, will necessitate pedestrians stepping from the sidewalk to the boulevard in negotiating that particular stretch of street.

Dr. C. G. Huston, W. C. Spencer and other property owners spoke on the subject and the decision of the supervisors was that "Bodge", deputy district attorney, send the county surveyors to the village to determine the actual street line before any further steps are taken.

Dana Point's New Phone System Is Cut Into Service

Dana Point's new dial telephone system was cut into service at 6 o'clock this morning, at which time the familiar "Number please," that greeted the subscriber when he lifted his receiver to his ear was replaced by a steady humming sound, known in the telephone language as the "dial tone."

According to E. S. Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, the change from the magneto type of telephone to the new dial type was made almost in an instant. The wires connecting the old telephones went into service, ready for use by all Dana Point subscribers.

The new system represents an expenditure of approximately $25,000. The building, a one-story structure of Spanish design, required an expenditure of $6000; the dial central office equipment, $6500, and approximately $12,000 for outside plant work in connection with the new exchange.

ASSERTED RUM SALESMAN AND STOCK SEIZED

Following an early morning surprise party, while their victim allegedly was engaged in making booze deliveries, a party of Orange county officers this morning put a crimp into the activities of A. C. Thomas, 44, of Artesia, whose occupation on the receiving book in the county jail is given as boot-legger.

Thomas was apprehended while engaged in delivering liquor, it was stated at the county jail, and approximately two gallons of liquor was seized by the officers, who overtook Thomas in his car. The arrest took place at La Jolla, near Placentia, at 4:30 this morning.

The charge against Thomas is possession of intoxicating liquor and prior conviction. It is reported at the jail that this is the seventh time Thomas has been arrested on liquor charges.

Officers in the party making the arrest were Chief Criminal Deputy Floyd Howard and Deputies Fred Humiston, A. L. Steward, Jesse Buckles and A. Lucy. The latter two are from Placentia.

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF BALBOA RESIDENT

Funeral services for Stetson Royal Jumper, 70, of Balboa, who died this morning at his home, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m., at the Smith and Tutill parlors in Santa Ana. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Jumper had been a resident of Balboa for the past 18 years. He had resided in California for 40 years.

FILE DEMURRER TO COMPLAINT AGAINST NAVA

Albert D. Nava, who has been formally charged with the murder, July 28, of Roy Kirk, will have his preliminary examination on the charge before Justice Kenneth C. Morrison on the morning of August 14.

This date was set yesterday afternoon when Nava was arraigned before Judge Morrison. Nava was represented by the law firm of Ray, Nelson and Burns. He was ordered held without bail pending the future action of the court.

Two other men are being held in the county jail by the district attorney's office for investigation in connection with the murder. One is the companion of Nava, Allen Slater, who is said to have been present when Kirk was slain, and the other, Roy Roberts, is being held while officers check up on a story he is alleged to have told fellow roomers the day after the murder of Kirk. It is thought, however, that Roberts' tale was told merely to excite his listeners and that nothing of importance will develop from that angle.

Kirk's body was found in his car along the highway near Huntington Beach, a week ago Sunday night. Nava's and Slater's subsequent actions and the conflicting stories they told resulted in their apprehension by Orange county authorities.

An oral demurrer was filed by Nava's attorneys, yesterday, at the time of arraignment, protesting that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense. A ruling on the demurrer will be made by Judge Morrison at the hearing. If it is sustained it is stated that the district attorney immediately will file another complaint. The move is regarded as a technicality to delay proceedings.

Local Briefs

Miss Wilma Garlick, 910 1/2 West Myrtle street, suffered slight injuries in an automobile accident, Sunday, in Long Beach. She was returned to her home here.

Col. B. T. Dowden, of the Register circulation department, is to be the principal speaker and guest of honor at the Knights of Pythias banquet tonight in Long Beach. Dowden was a colonel in the rebel army during the recent revolution in Mexico.

The offices of Dr. John Wehrly and Dr. W. S. Wehrly, at 620 North Main street, are being completely redecorated. Hand decorated panels and subdued lighting effects will be used. The work will be completed by August 15.

Repainting of the county jail's interior now is nearing completion. The work is being done by the prisoners. A color scheme of pearl gray and white is being carried out.

Alma Kanawyer, 18, of Wintersburg, and Gerald E. Crow, 23, of San Pedro, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Seek County Aid For Legion Float At U. S. Conclave

The opinion of Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, was suggested by the supervisors this morning on the request of Bob Miller, of Santa Ana post, American Legion, that the county aid in financing the Legion's plan for advertising Orange county as well as Los Angeles at the approaching national convention, in Louisville, as a part of the plan to bring the 1930 convention to Los Angeles.

Miller's plan includes a float depicting a mission scene, flanked by a huge orange from which pure orange juice will be served along the line of march of the parade. The plan also includes the placing of Orange county booklets in the various hotel rooms of the convention city.

Miller figured that the county was justified in seeking a share of the publicity bound to follow the advent of Los Angeles into the race for the 1930 convention.

DELEGATES TO QUEEN ESTHER CAMP RETURN

Several noted entertainers were featured of particular interest to delegates at the Queen Esther summer camp at the Pacific Palisades over the week end, according to reports made here today by representatives of the Santa Ana Queen Esther circle who attended the 10-day camp session.

Jeffrey Morgan, who is considered one of the foremost lecturers of the day, addressed the young women Friday night. Madame Ellen Beech Yaw, famous as the "California Nightingale," delighted with vocal numbers and Fern Butler concert violinist, appeared on the same program with classical numbers.

One feature of rare beauty was enthusiastically narrated by the Santa Ana girls who took part in the morning watch service, which was held on a hill near the camp. A great cross was erected on the hilltop and at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, Madame Yaw sang an "Echo" song, which resounded throughout the valley and echoed from hilltop to hilltop. It was considered one of the most inspiring services ever to have been held in the camp.

Miss Helen Wiesseman, Miss Margaret Guthrie and Miss Kathryn Budd, of the First Methodist church, and Miss Caroline Cushing, of the Richmond Avenue Methodist church, comprised the group attending the camp from Santa Ana circles.

a leading Santa Ana beauty authority

Recommends this famous 2-minute home complexion rule . . .

in agreement with 16,954 American beauty experts who say "Wash your face for beauty with Palmolive Soap"

WHEREVER you go, beauty experts today have one complexion rule in common. Here in Santa Ana—in America's great beauty capitals—in Paris, Rome, or London, they are unanimous on one point.

"Foundation cleansing" is what they call it. And beauty treatments without it are only half effective, they will tell you. Foundation cleansing simply means skin thoroughly, gently, cleansed with palm and olive oils regularly.

Each day your complexion is exposed to germ-laden air. Rouge and make-up, if left on, will clog the pores. Regular basic cleansing is needed.

What great experts say

Twice each day, follow the rule of these greatest cosmeticians. Cleanse the skin as they recommend with Palmolive Soap. An improved complexion is bound to be your reward.

Palmolive today is universally urged by the world's authorities on beauty. In every city and town in America, in the great capitals of Europe, those who tend the world's greatest, say: "Wash the face for beauty with Palmolive."

The importance of "foundation cleansing."

This internationally-preferred complexion soap is blended of the oils of olive and palm. These two great cosmetic oils penetrate the pores gently, rid them of their dangerous secretions, leave the skin fresh, radiant and supple.

With such a basis, beauty treatments then are doubly effective. Each night at home do this for two full minutes.

Massage the face with a smooth balmy lather of Palmolive, using your two hands. After two minutes, rinse—first with warm, then colder water, until all impurities are washed away, until the pores are closed and the skin is firm and radiant. That is all!

Read above the advice of one of the great experts of this city. In Paris, Mme. Cavaliere is telling her distinguished clientele the same. In Vienna, Pessl echoes her. In Berlin, in London, in Rome—greatest authorities agree on this.

Consult your own beauty adviser. Her experience will bear out this advice. She, too, you will find, knows that natural beauty comes from foundation cleansing.

H. B. Council Acts Next Monday On Beach Purchase

LIGHT SYSTEM FINISHED SOON. BOARD IS TOLD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—Final steps in the purchase of $3000 feet of beach frontage from the Huntington Beach company probably will be taken at next Monday's session of the city council. It was indicated at last night's meeting in the city hall.

The deeds and options to the property were presented by the city clerk but action was delayed until the trustees and the city attorney could inspect the papers.

The proposed pier extension was brought up, discussed and postponed for action until next Monday. A report on the work of installing new lights in the business district as presented by the city engineer indicated that within another week or 10 days the new light system will be completed.

Shepherd-Crook, Inc., 314 West 127th street, Los Angeles, was awarded the contract for a new tractor to cost $2650 and a new scarifier to cost $290. The old Ford tractor was traded in for $75.

The trustees allowed $300 for expense in providing extra accommodations in tables and benches at the beach and in entertainment features for the motor bike riders who will picnic here August 1 under the auspices of the Pasadena Motorcycle club.

A suggestion from the state highway commission that the city spend $3700 improving Hampshire avenue as an outlet from the Coast highway was the subject for much discussion. The city engineer was finally instructed to write the state highway commission to the effect that the city might join with the state in the proposed improvements.

Mayor Bowen informed the council that a conference held a month ago in Santa Ana between city mayors and the county supervisors of Orange county developed that the cities paid 70 per cent of the gasoline tax and were awarded only 30 per cent of the funds for roads derived from this tax.

The municipalities of the county are out to change this division plan of the road fund, the mayor said. The matter is to be taken before the state legislature. Mayor Bowen said Huntington Beach had spent $300,000 on state highway arteries through the city and had never had one cent of state aid on such arteries.

R. C. Painter, chairman of the entertainment committee of the chamber of commerce, asked the city trustees to give Huntington Beach Sunday and holiday band

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 6.—Work on the gymnasium at the high school here is progressing rapidly. The contract for the electrical work has been let to Gilbert, Weston and Stearns, of Santa Ana. The plumbing contract was awarded to J. D. Sanborn, also of Santa Ana. The trustees present at the last meeting were Judge John Landel, Guy Williams, Mrs. H. J. Barnes and Dr. Paul Esslinger.

C. OF C. DIRECTOR NAMED AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—E. U. Briggs, gas service station operator, is a director of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce for the rest of this year. He was named yesterday by the other directors, to fill out the unexpired term of K. L. Fulton, who is temporarily in business in Los Angeles.

concerns Mayor Bowen said it had been suggested that bands from Riverside, San Bernardino and other cities in Orange county and adjoining counties be engaged alternately for concerts here. The matter was referred to the music and promotion committee with authority to act.

H. Foust, 823 South Main street, Santa Ana, presented a petition signed by a large number of business firms here, for installation of mint vending machines. Mayor Bowen, with approval of the trustees, referred the matter to the city attorney as to the legality of the proposed vending machines as determined by court decision.

A letter from the railroad commission of California signed by H. S. Mathewson, suggested that the city repair a grade crossing at First street and Ocean avenue used by beach visitors. The matter was referred to the city engineer.

Mrs. W. A. Osborne was granted a license to operate a moving picture show at 207 Main street.

The matter of a separate telephone exchange for New Westminster was brought up, and the trustees expressed their sentiment as favoring the exchange provided its installation did not mean an added expense for Huntington Beach patrons. Otherwise the proposed change in the telephone system here will be opposed before the state railroad commission.

C. Wallach, of Long Beach, wanted to put on a three-day carnival or "Mardi Gras" here August 28 to September 3. He wanted the city to put up $7000 for advance advertising, the money to be refunded out of 25 per cent of the carnival funds. The council turned the matter down in its present form. The budget compiled for the city by Controller C. R. Furr was adopted by the trustees. Adjournment was taken until next Monday night.

Trustees S. R. Bowen, E. G. Conrad, Bayard Butcher, J. W. Mitchell and O. Ray Harris, City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, City Judge Charles P. Patton, Chief of Police C. D. Steward, City Engineer Merwin Rosin and City Clerk C. R. Furr attended.

The monthly report from the chief of police indicated Huntington Beach residents and visitors were fairly well behaved during the month of July. There were 64 arrests, 20 for speeding, 12 for drunkenness, nine for reckless driving and the rest for various minor offenses. The report of City Judge C. P. Patton showed a total of $895 collected in fines. Autoists paid only $180 of this sum. There were eight cases dismissed.

NEW MEMBERS SECURED FOR BEACH C. OF C.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—The weekly meeting and luncheon of the chamber of commerce was held Monday noon at the Golden Bear cafe and was largely attended. A membership campaign is on and the committees reported satisfactory progress being made.

The Los Angeles chamber sent its city planning committee chairman to Huntington Beach and he gave an interesting talk on city planning. Four members of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce were luncheon guests.

The chamber voted to ask the city trustees for funds for the lights celebration and the entertainment of the motorcycle club here during the coming month.

BUENA PARK POST PLANS BABY CLINIC

BUENA PARK, Aug. 6.—The Buena Park American Legion post is formulating plans to establish a baby health clinic in the community. A committee composed of I. D. Jaynes, Dr. A. G. Elvin and Hershel Jones has been appointed to purchase a flag and post banner.

A donation has been made to the county health camp and the sum of $35 donated to the newly organized auxiliary.

The dance held on July 25 was so successful that plans are being discussed for another benefit dance, to be given August 30. A "500" card party will be held August 14, with Ted Welch in charge of committee on arrangements.

The post will be represented at the state convention in San Diego August 19 to 21 by Commander Archie Bosanko, Adjutant Walter Breckenridge and Ivan Ellmore.

Trees Planted In New Bridle Path At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 6.—More than five miles of bridle trails in the third unit, that part of the Spanish village south of the San Clemente Clinic and hospital, have been decorated with trees. The trees, 775 in number, were planted every 40 feet on each side of the street, the center of which contains the bridle trail. The work was done under the supervision of Teddy Hanson.

Talbert Hunter Home With Deer

TALBERT, Aug. 6.—The hunting party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lamb and family and Harold Giesler, of this place, and Kenneth Lamb, of Santa Ana, returned Sunday evening from a deer hunting trip in the north and a clam hunt at Pismo beach. Harold Giesler was the lucky hunter of the group, having killed a buck weighing 180 pounds, which was brought out from the mountains on two pack horses. He will have the head mounted.

NEW TROPHY IS SECURED FOR LIGHTS TOURNAMENT AT NEWPORT ON SATURDAY

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—In less than five minutes at the meeting of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce yesterday almost enough money was subscribed for a "major trophy" at this year's Tournament of Lights, which takes place Saturday evening. It will be a canoe, provided at a special price by Don Douglas, Newport Beach manufacturer.

Commodore J. A. Beek, manager of the tournament and one of the chamber directors, announced that among the things still needed to make the lights fete a success was another trophy. One after another of the directors present offered to donate money for such a trophy and Douglas donated $10 besides offering a canoe at a very special figure. C. H. Way was named a

OIL REFINERY PROTESTS TAX JUMP AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—J. F. Hasser, an attorney from Long Beach, representing the Orange County Refining company, filed a protest against an increase in the firm's taxes, permits or license from $75 per annum to $800. He pleaded with the council not to destroy a going concern that was passing out to their employees $25,000 per annum in wages and was supporting 18 families in the community. The city of Huntington Beach charges $50. It was asserted, and they had wells that produced thousands of barrels per day, while the five wells in Newport produced about 50 barrels altogether. The matter was finally referred to the city clerk with instructions to find out what other cities charged, and report at the next meeting.

J. C. Burton, of Santa Ana, protested against abandoning any streets in Corona Del Mar.

Blanket insurance covering city from damages from accidents of city employees while using their own cars on city business was referred to City Attorney Thompson. This action was made necessary by a new law going into effect August 14.

RECEIPTS OF AUTO CAMP AT BEACH GAIN

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—The report for the month of July of the municipal auto camp on the bay at East Newport showed receipts of $3700 as against $3200 for the same month in 1928.

The report showed that about 54 less cars per day stopped there than last year, but that the straight charge of 75 cents per day had added to the total receipts. The two weeks' limit had also kept the average down as previously parties stayed there all summer.

More foreign cars have already been registered than the entire total of distant visitors amounted to last year. They came from all over the country.

FAMILY FORCED HOME BY RAIN. MUD IN DESERT

La Habra, Aug. 6.—The hardships of the forty-niners in crossing the wide open spaces to reach the land of gold were appreciated to some extent by 200 occupants of cars stalled the past week near Gallup, New Mexico, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Burt Zumwalt and family, who left one week ago for a month's visit with relatives in Stouland, Mo.

The Zumwalt family returned to La Habra Sunday evening after an unusual experience in the desert. All went well until the tourists reached Flagstaff, Ariz. From there on they traveled in rain to a detour between Holtville and Gallup where a bridge had been washed out. Here their car became stuck in the mud for 20 hours and even were without food for more than thirty hours.

It was a pitiful sight according to the tourists crying and begging for water and food. A small store several miles from the tourists was visited and all the available food that could be secured was given to the small children but there was not enough to go around.

In order to get out of the mud the tourists organized in groups and pushed the cars out. After securing food for themselves at Gallup after their long stay in the mud Mr. and Mrs. Zumwalt motored to the Grand Canyon, where they encountered more rain and were forced to be ford across the river by teams on their return.

THROUGH BUS LINE FOR NEWPORT SEEN

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Through stages between Newport-Balboa and Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Bernardino and other points will be run by the Motor Transit stages, it was revealed today, following a meeting of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The Motor Transit lines expect to receive confirmation in a few days of an order by the state railroad commission, authorizing the merging of its own original lines with those of the Crown Stages, which it bought about three years ago.

Up to the present the only stage run here was from Santa Ana, where all passengers had to transfer.

French Women Know Secret of Beautiful Hands

You never see rough-skinned, coarse hands on French women. Why? Because they know one thing by which men are greatly impressed is a well-groomed, exquisitely dainty hand—they know men are thrilled to hold a hand of velvet!

No matter if you do hardest housework, garden or office work, if your hands are hideously rough and red—one application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream makes them amazingly smooth, ravishingly lovely. Continued use gives you hands as beautiful as the rarest china—so well cared for with that white and captivatingly smooth skin.

Howard's contains real buttermilk plus a number of youth-giving, beauty-increasing ingredients. It cleanses, nourishes—is gently astringent—a marvelous bleach to remove freckles and whiten the skin. That's why even one application can immediately beautify! A generous tube at any drug store lasts many months, and any woman can afford it.—Adv.

KIWANIS CLUB TOLD PLANS OF FIRE FIGHTERS

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Members of the Fullerton fire department presented the program at the meeting of the Fullerton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in McFarland's cafe. They presented a preview of the California State Firemen's convention, which convenes here Wednesday.

The needs of the local fire department and its plans for the convention were discussed briefly by Roy Davis, local fire chief. W. B. Potter, assistant chief, and a member of the city council, also discussed the needs of the local fire department, especially in connection with improvement of the water system to serve homes in the hilltop districts.

Appreciation of the co-operation of the Kiwanis club and other organizations throughout the county in backing Fullerton in the convention plans was expressed by L. J. Robeson, president of the Orange County Firemen's association.

A comedy skit illustrating the song, "Scotland's Burning," was presented by a group of local Kiwanians including Robert Strain, Don Jones, Otto Evans, Dan McFarland, A. L. Foster, Dwight Goodwin, Glenn Lewis, Harry Wilber and Charles Hammons.

Members of the Kiwanis will provide transportation for visiting firemen. Tom Yeats is chairman of the committee in charge of planning transportation.

The annual picnic of the local Kiwanis club will be held August 27, it was decided at the meeting. Plans for the picnic will be announced later.

LEGION'S PAST LEADERS TO BE HONOR GUESTS

Hundreds of members of the Santa Ana post, 131, American Legion, will attend the Past Commanders' night celebration, scheduled for Thursday night. The meeting will be the last before the state convention, in San Diego, and final plans for Santa Ana's participation will be made. The meeting will open with a dinner, to be served at 6:30 p. m., by the auxiliary, after which all past commanders of the post who are present will be introduced. Past post adjutants also will be honored at the meeting.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by Ed Delgado and his Hawaiian troupe.

The history of the post will be read as part of the celebration. Announcement was made today by Charles Van Wyk, past post commander, that the American Legion county council would hold its final meeting before the state convention on August 9. The meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in Orange, with the county council of the Legion auxiliary also present.

NEW YORK CAN TELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—After she had been graduated from Hackensack high school, Miss Ruth Spalding experienced severe headaches. Three days later she told her father that the headache had become unbearable. Examination revealed a fractured skull. She had struck her head while diving three days before.

NEW INSURANCE PLAN IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Various items of interest that occupied the attention of members of the city council at their meeting, last night, included a discussion of city insurance problems, communications from the state railroad commission relative to the proposed grade separation on East Fourth street at the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe tracks, action on several requests and passage of ordinances amending the zoning ordinance.

The insurance service project was presented to the council by J. A. Hinoite, of the Policy Holders' Service corporation, a firm of insurance surveyors and engineers, of Los Angeles. Hinoite and his staff had made a survey of the city's insurance problem at the request of City Manager W. G. Knox, and presented figures last night claiming that the city was now paying for $275,000 worth of insurance on which it would be possible to collect only $196,000. This, he claimed, was an over-insurance of some $79,000, from which the city was accruing no benefit.

The plan whereby the Los Angeles firm would advise concerning the insurance needs of the city, keep the property properly covered at a minimum cost and handle all claims that might arise at no extra cost, was strongly approved by Knox. The plan, as outlined, does away with blanket coverage and attendant necessity of a detailed and expensive appraisal in case of a fire and substitutes specific coverage at the same rate as is now in effect, Hinoite asserted. It was claimed that at a cost of $300 for the first year and $225 for succeeding years the Policy Holders' company would look after the insurance problems of the city at a saving of over $1300 in premiums.

Under Advisement

The council desired more time in which to become familiar with the proposition and moved to take the matter under advisement. The railroad commission advised the city in a communication read last night that the proposition for the grade separation on East Fourth street had been submitted to the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads and that both roads were opposed to the project on the grounds that it failed to provide for complete crossing separation. The Southern Pacific advised, however, that it would offer no objection if the city wished to proceed with the matter and would assume all the attendant expense. The Santa Fe also brought out the fact that it was their opinion that the project would cost twice as much as has been estimated, that it believed a better plan could be evolved and that it would be glad to have its engineers assist.

The state commission advised that the next step should be a public hearing and that it would be glad to send the commission engineers here to assist in working out a proposition that would be satisfactory to all parties concerned.

The council ordered the communication filed and a copy sent to the East Side Improvement association.

An ordinance amending the special uses section of the city zoning ordinance was given first reading and referred back to the city attorney. This ordinance provides for the erection of city, county or state buildings without making necessary to take certain steps heretofore required and is for the purpose of permitting the erection of certain types of buildings in the school building campaign that is under way.

Lot Ordered Posted

The application to construct a duplex in the 500 block on South Van Ness street was heard and the lot, which is owned by Charles Gammell, ordered posted for special purposes. A joint hearing is scheduled for August 19. Similar action was taken on the request of Perry Ballard for erection of an office and storage tanks at Sixth and Hawley streets.

No protests were presented against the proposed change in zoning of the corners at the intersection of Washington avenue and Bristol street from residence to neighborhood business and the recommendation of the city planning commission for this change was referred to City Attorney Charles Swanner.

The request of the city school board for approval of the purchase of certain parcels of land in connection with its expansion program was approved by the council after it was shown that the city planning commission also approved.

Appointment of W. F. Nielsen as motorcycle officer on the city police force was approved by the council.

Request for a permit to conduct a junk business at 15 East Pine street by Alstead and Maher was refused and the matter referred to the police commissioner.

Correction of setback lines on East Washington avenue, from the Santa Fe tracks to Grand avenue, was accomplished through the passage of two ordinances, which provide for the setback to be measured from the center of the street to take care of a slight offset in the course of the street.

A resolution was adopted giving consent for improvements being made by the county on West Chapman avenue and inclusion of city property in the assessment district.

Action was taken terminating a lease on a tract of ground owned by J. M. Campbell and formerly used by the city as a dump ground. This was done to furnish clear title to the land.

Transfer of $1500 to the city board of education for use in connection with the playgrounds program was authorized.

Extension of water service outside the city limits to Mrs. A. B. Farran, on Dyer road, was authorized.

TWO PROJECTS ARE APPROVED BY S. A. COUNCIL

A large delegation of citizens was present at the city council meeting in the city hall, last night, to attend hearings on several improvement projects.

The two hearings which drew the largest attendance were the pavement proceedings in connection with Grand avenue, Second street and McClay street, and the lighting system project in the southeast part of the city. A written protest, bearing the signatures of 15 residents in the district to be affected by the paving proposal, was read to the council but practically all of the citizens present at the session in connection with this matter spoke in favor of the improvement proceedings. The protest was denied on the grounds that it represented a small minority of the assessable frontage involved and the resolution ordering the improvement was adopted by the council.

At the hearing concerning the lighting system for the southeast part of the city, the majority of the citizens present entered protest against the project. The group entering protests included Shaw Gardner, Butler, Healy, Schultz, McMullen, Jordan, Woodside and Wurster. Here again it was shown by the council that the protest represented only a small minority of the property that would be assessed for the improvement and the protest was denied. The resolution ordering the work done was passed.

It was stated that the cost of the ornamental lighting system for the district would be guaranteed at not more than $1.05 per front foot and that corner lots would bear a double assessment rather than upon a basis of total footage.

SHE THOUGHT:

"You look stunning—too bad you're so careless about 'B.O.'"

Yet, to be polite, SHE SAID:

"I love your new dress, Laura."

So attractive-looking... yet unpopular! Can it be "B.O."?
(Body Odor)

SLIM! Stylish! Chic! Laura was stunning in her lovely, new frock.

But what did it avail her? Men admired Laura's smartness—but they avoided her company. Women openly envied her beauty, but secretly pitied her.

Yes—another case of "B.O."—Body Odor! And Laura never suspected it until a newspaper ad aroused her suspicions. "B.O." isn't hurting Laura any longer. She keeps perspiration odorless now—easily, too!

Now—no fear of "B.O." even in hot weather

We can't always tell when we're guilty of "B.O." We become insensitive to ever-present odors. But pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste daily. And the hotter the weather—the more danger.

It's best to play safe—always! Just bathe regularly with Lifebuoy, the deodorizing toilet soap that millions use. Refreshing, invigorating, marvelously cleansing, its gentle antiseptic lather is like a tonic. Pores are purified so deeply that "B.O." stays away.

THEATER PARTY OF SCIOTS IS SUCCESS

The Sciots' theater party, last night, was a big success, according to N. E. Mayhill, toparch. Both the uniformed bodies of the lodge were present and every Sciote wore his fez.

All members of the pyramid, who had been urged to bring their wives and families, met in the Fox Walker theater at 9 p. m.

Tickets sold were for the benefit of the uniformed bodies and are good every night, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, until August 15.

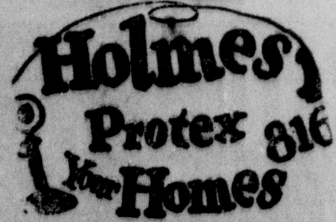

Members of the pyramid who were unable to attend the theater party last night are urged to assist in the financial project and so help pay the expenses of the uniformed bodies to the supreme convention, in San Francisco, in November.

MAY PICK LOUGHRAN TO BATTLE SCHMELING

Gabuco Battles Montoya In Local Arena Tonight

FOUST OFFERS WELL MATCHED PRELIMINARIES

WILDMAN

Wildman Macias, rugged Santa Ana battler who takes on Young Jack Sharkey at 155 pounds at Foust's arena here tonight. Sharkey is from Dick Dillard's stable at San Diego.

A terrific right hand puncher versus a cagey ringwise boxer who is numbered among the leading bantamweights of the Southland, a youth who gives promise of developing into one of the biggest little fistic sensations in this section versus a lad who has been halting the rise of ambitious youngsters for the past two years—there you have a comparison of tonight's main event fighters at the Orange county arena when young Jess Gabuco, the hard-hitting Filipino, squares off against Raymon Montoya, veteran San Diego warrior.

They are down for six rounds or less at 121 pounds, topping one of the most attractive fight cards Santa Ana fans have been offered since Matchmaker Henry Foust took over the matchmaking duties of the Southside arena.

The winner of tonight's scrap is certain to become a big attraction here and a money getter superior to any lad in this locality. Also the victor will be in line for the best that Matchmaker Foust can procure by the way of lucrative and attractive future matches.

Gabuco, the Filipino, is just after demonstrating his punching prowess by halting Tony Moreno in one round. Montoya long ago proved that he must be accepted as a real threat to Coast 115-pounders, especially in view of the fact that he gave Kid Francis a big scare by holding the Italian champion even when the latter was campaigning in Southern California last year.

Supporting the six-round top, Matchmaker Foust has a bang-up preliminary card. The six-round semi-windup shows Jesse Ayala, of Anaheim going postward against Charlie Cobb, Montoya's welterweight stablemate. Cobb is a main event in anybody's league and expects to be fulfilling feature spots here after tonight's scramble.

He runs into stiff competition in Ayala, however, and may be forced to forego his main event aspirations for the time being.

Wildman Macias, a popular local middleweight, acts as a trial horse in the six-round special when he faces Young Jack Sharkey. Sharkey makes his bow backed by a big rep.

The four are Howard Carr vs. Luis Medina, bantams; Louie Echeveste vs. Mervin DeRouse, bantams, and Cliff Barrier vs. Ray Rodriguez, lightweights. The first bout is due to go on at 8:30. Popular prices prevail in spite of the calibre of the show.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey was talking fight again today and let it be known that a Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey battle at Agua Caliente about Thanksgiving Day is not an impossibility.

Dempsey said he had been approached by Agua Caliente interests and was acting as nominal promoter of the proposed bout.

The former champion explained the "whole thing is still up in the air." He declared his backers in the venture had posted $100,000 guarantee for each fighter and were working on other details at present.

Dempsey interviewed Schmeling and Joe Jacobs, the German's representative, here recently and they are reported to have signified a willingness to listen.

A flying trip east may be made by Dempsey shortly to complete negotiations with the Sharkey camp.

FULLERTON NET TOURNAMENT WILL ATTRACT MANY

The third annual Fullerton Invitational Tennis tournament will be held on the Fullerton high school courts starting August 11, it was announced today.

All events will be staged with the exception of women's doubles and play will start at 8:30 a. m. in all events except the men's doubles.

On August 18, final rounds will be staged at the courts and at this time the preliminaries and finals of the men's doubles will be played.

At least 30 entries are expected by the Fullerton management, according to Gerald Borge, of Fullerton, who is at the head of the committee in charge and the entries will include Bill Grafton, county singles champion; Olaf Hansen, Fullerton city champion; Gerald Borge, Anaheim city champion; Randolph Bell and John Cress, well known Santa Ana stars, and Dick Ewart and Emil Foust, former junior college stars.

Entries close at 6 p. m., Friday, August 9, and should be mailed to Gerald Borge, 516 East Wilshire, Fullerton.

GOLDIE HESS MIXES WITH CARTER IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Wildcat Carter, favorite fighter of the great northwest, will step into the Olympic club ring here tonight to try and halt the sensational march of Goldie Hess, called the "Little Paulino" by his Southern California backers. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

As far as betting odds can be ascertained, neither fighter will be a heavy favorite. It was very probable that what money is up at ring time will be at even figures.

The fight clientele, or that part of it not adverse to wagering, apparently would like to make the little negro a upset favorite, but Hess has upset the betting fraternity too often of late.

Goldie has won approximately 66 out of 69 fights, including Santiago Zorrilla and Tod Morgan in his casualty list. Hess will make a supreme effort to get Morgan into the ring with the latter's junior lightweight crown at stake, if he beats Carter tonight.

The one barrier, excepting Carter, who stands between Hess and Morgan is Eddie Mack, the Denver college boy. The Hess management has been making overtures to the collegian and Mack and Hess may meet to decide Morgan's opponent.

Ritchie King and Tony Portillo fight tonight's semi-windup. Leo Hernandez and Bert Sampson are slated for the special event.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The final desperate drive of the New York Yankees to overtake the Philadelphia Athletics starts today.

Everyone interested in baseball agrees that Miller Huggins' club has but a slim chance of maintaining its prestige as the greatest of modern scoring machines, but only a year ago the present American league pacemakers began a victorious march which nearly carried them to the pennant and made a real contest out of the 1928 race.

Facing the seemingly insurmountable obstacle of a handicap of 11½ games, the Yankees open their assault upon their rivals' lead in a doubleheader at the local stadium with the Washington Senators. Then they go to Philadelphia for three games with the Athletics before setting out on a final swing through the west.

The return of Walter Hoyt to uniform, if not to pitching form, and the fact that Babe Ruth is rapidly clubbing his way upwards toward another home run hitting title, heartened the Yanks today.

It was during August of last year that the Mackmen, seemingly as hopelessly beaten as the Yankees look now, whittled away the last of a lead of 13½ games and overtook the local club early in September.

Should baseball history repeat itself, the two leading American league contenders would be on even terms a month hence.

This time, however, the Athletics, racing along out in front by nearly a dozen games, show no signs of falling into a slump such as beset the New York club last year. Everything favors the Mackmen.

Babe Ruth, who makes the pace for his team, is interested in leading a decisive attack upon the Philadelphia lead, since the Babe's contract expires at the end of the current season, and he wants $100,000 for 1930. Trailing "Chuck" Klein of the Phillies by eight home runs at present, Ruth, like the Yanks, has quite a handicap to overcome to maintain his reputation as the game's leading slugger. Klein has hit 33 homers to date, the Babe 25.

Coast Teams Bunched In Pennant Race

(By United Press)

With the leaders in the Pacific Coast league closely bunched, almost anything can happen to their respective standings during the series starting today.

The San Francisco Seals need only to drop a few too many games to the Mission Reds for Hollywood to top the league if the Stars can take the number of the Angels, and it would be possible for the Reds to be on top at the end of the week if they sweep the series.

The rivalry between the Seals and the Reds is very keen. The Seals will flaunt their 1928 pennant, while the Missions point with pardonable pride to having won the first half of the present season.

While the leaders are battling for premier position, Portland will meet the solons at Sacramento, with the odds apparently in favor of the Ducks. The celtic Seattle Indians will cross bats with Oakland on the latter club's lot.

The series just closed saw "Fuzzy" Huff of the Missions nose out Smead Jolley of the Seals for batting honors, although both men are hitting close to the 400 mark. The race between these two has been hard and fast. Both improved their percentages last week, but Huff, at bat 48 times for 193 hits has an average of .395, while Jolley's average is .393 with 207 hits and 527 times at bat.

Rumley, Hollywood, has .385 and is closely pressed for third place batting honors by the ever reliable Arlett of Oakland, with .383.

Typewriter Boys
Meet Lumbermen

A possible up-set in the smooth sailing being had by the Tiernan Typewriter baseball team in the night city league may come tonight when the Typewriters play the fast coming Barr Lumber company nine at the Olive Bowl.

Barr Lumber has dropped only one game in the last session of the league and are tied for second place with Kinalow's machinists. The game is called at 8 o'clock.

Spanish City Mermaids Go To Pasadena

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 6.—Adeline Whaling, Dorothy Justins and Dorothy Moriarty will represent San Clemente in a swimming meet to be held Tuesday evening, August 27 at Brookside Park under the auspices of the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Spanish Village stars, in their last meet held at Lake Arrowhead, won two first and a third place and should do as well or better in the Pasadena swimming championships, according to Frank Holbrook, in charge of the team.

Adeline Whaling, holder of the junior national title in the 220 yard free style event has been entered in the same distance event and the 100 yard free style at Brookside Park. Dorothy Justins will seek honors in the 100 yard back stroke and the 220 yard free style. Miss Justins in her last two meets has won honors in the 100 yard back stroke, winning at Long Beach on July 4 and at Lake Arrowhead in the mile-hi championships.

The other Spanish Village entry, Dorothy Moriarty will race in the 50 yard free style for girls 14 years of age and under.

TITLE PLAYERS LOSE THRILLER TO CREAM MEN

Playing "bang-up" baseball in the first four innings, the Excelsior Creamery company, led by their old war horse "Tex" Bergman, defeated the lowly Orange County Title company, in the first game of the week's Twilight schedule yesterday by the score of 6 to 5.

The win did not come, however, until after the Title team had made a strong bid for the game in the fifth inning when with one down, Bergman walked Myers and Hodges. They scored when Elliott singled and the ball was passed around the diamond too freely. During the fracas Elliott also scored.

The score:

COAST ELEVEN TO MAKE LONG TRIPS IN 1929

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—Pacific Coast conference football teams will participate in 10 inter-sectional games this season. Five of the contests will be played on eastern gridirons, three on western and two in Hawaii.

Oregon and Washington State College will travel the longest distance to participate in their inter-sectional games. Oregon meets University of Florida at Miami December 7, and Washington State has two contests billed for December 25 and January 1, with Honolulu A. C. and University of Hawaii, respectively.

Oregon State College, conquerors of New York University last year, will journey to Detroit for a game with Detroit U. November 23. Other eastern contests in which coast teams will participate are University of California at Pennsylvania, October 13; Wash-

GRANGE OFFERS CUP FOR RACE WINNER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—"Red" Grange, the well known Wheaton ice man and considerable of a football player, has entered the automobile racing game. That is, "Red" has taken an interest in the dangerous sport of speed to the extent of putting up a cup in his name for the victorious driver in the 30-lap main event at the American Legion speedway here Thursday night.

Grange is one who takes a deep joy in seeing the knights of the open throttle risk life and limb for glory and money and he will be on hand personally Thursday evening, to hand the "Red" Grange cup to the pilot coming across the finish line ahead.

Peter De Paolo, twice national racing champion, has been conscripted to referee the Thursday events.

ington at Chicago, November 23; and University of Southern California will meet Notre Dame at Chicago, November 16.

Coast inter-sectional games list Hawaii vs. Oregon, here, November 23; Carnegie Tech vs. U. S. C. at Los Angeles, December 14, and Army vs. Stanford at Palo Alto, December 28.

In addition to the inter-sectional contests, coast teams are carrying heavy conference schedules as well as heavy pre-season non-conference games.

TEXAS CHAMP

Dennis Lavender of Abilene, youthful champion of Texas, is an entry in the National Amateur golf championship match play at Pebble Beach, Calif., in September. Lavender, at 20, has held three major titles in his home state in the last two years. In 1927 he won the Texas municipal tournament; last year he won the championship of the West Texas Golf association, comprising more than 40 clubs, and this year he captured the state amateur title.

Johnston, if convinced that he can't put Scott in there, will step aside in favor of Loughran in order to be sure that Schmeling gets everything that James thinks is coming to him, including a beating. Personally, I have no great faith in this story. James has been known to step aside but this was done out of deference to an approaching trolley car.

Anyhow, this is slated to be show down day for all of them and, when it is over, the welterweight promoter possibly will face the alternative of taking his fight to Detroit, which he apparently fears to do, or of tossing it out altogether, which he obviously cannot afford to do. Schmeling alone can save him by agreeing to fight Loughran or Scott for another man but, if Schmeling does agree, he will surprise everybody.

TEXAS CHAMP WINS AT SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 6.—Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., defending titleholder in the Meadow club invitation tournament, defeated J. Gilbert Hall in a second round match today, 6-2, 6-4.

William Clothier, national champion in 1906, defeated Fred C. Baggs, runnerup in the national veterans singles and doubles last year, 6-3, 6-3.

E. R. Avery of the Oxford-Cambridge team was the first seeded player to be put out. He was eliminated by Julius Sellgren, former national intercollegiate champion, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

J. O. Olliff, national indoor champion of England, another seeded player, ran into troubled waters when he started against Donald Cram who took the first set at 6-4, and after a hard 14 game second set took the last set also at 8-6 to win.

Malcom T. Hill defeated the Ox-

In the two major leagues are manufactured in the same factory, there has been a suspicion that the National league would put some more gun powder in their ball to help their boys become Ruths and Gehrigs.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR PEACE

But, after the meeting in Cincinnati when the leak was given that the ball had been pepped up, Mr. Heydler denied it immediately. He quoted the circular statement that the manufacturers have for every question on the subject.

"Since the war," their statement reads, "we have been able to get a better quality of rubber and a better quality of wool."

They also, it is claimed, have been able to get a better quality of horse hide for the cover and all these things make the ball faster—if it is faster.

PLAYERS SAY THEY KNOW

The executives of the two leagues and the manufacturers of the ball used in the two leagues may insist that the ball has not been changed to make it go farther and faster. When they say so the fan can't dispute their arguments.

But the managers and the players insist that the ball is faster this year than it ever has been. And the number of homers hit in half a season seems to support their contention.

There have been other fanciful claims made this year. Some of the players say that certain home clubs put a crate of balls in an ice box and another crate in an oven.

Their contention is that freezing deadens the ball and that heat livens it and that the smart managers of several clubs give their pitcher the ice ball and throw in a hot one when their team is batting.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE MARBERRY, an American girl owning considerable property near the little town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, but so far she has escaped harm, due to the shrewdness of her cousin and protector, VILAK, who masquerades as her attorney under the name of DAVIS. VILAK, a curious mixture of American and Oriental blood, is a student of criminology. He tries to persuade ELISE to leave the country, letting him stay with his friend, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, an elderly American chemist, to solve the mystery.

After her two-year-old orphaned nephew was kidnapped, to be found again by the alert VILAK, and another attempt is made on their lives, ELISE agrees.

Her departure is prevented by threat of floods. Messengers ride through the countryside, warning the natives. VILAK decides to go to the house of GAYLORD PRENTISS, a recluse and a forbidding man and an enemy of ELISE's whom she suspects of a knowledge of the conspiracy against her. Nevertheless, she agrees it is their duty to warn him.

VILAK learns that the flood warning was a ruse to get Prentiss out of his house and so informs him. The party is besieged in a small stone tower next to Prentiss' house, by armed attackers. VILAK finally disperses them by dynamiting a dam and causing a real flood. When the water recedes they discover Prentiss has gone. VILAK directs laborers to set fire to the brush on Prentiss' property.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

VILAK continued to light the fires until for a quarter of a mile the woods were ablaze. The old man interestedly watched the strange creatures that bolted onto the road to escape the danger suddenly come upon them; the long-legged, crane-like jabiru, the ugly, ungainly peccary, the graceful, agile bush-deer. But he was not long afforded this spectacle, for VILAK had been careful to build back fires and the leaping flames quickly died away. The party returned to ELISE's fazenda. "Hear anything about the boat yet?" VILAK asked his cousin as he strode up to the veranda and met her carrying her tiny nephew outside to bask in the sun.

"Yes, I certainly did. Word came just after you left. Smashed a paddle-wheel up at Benca, and won't be down for another three days. High water sent her onto some rocks.

Water's falling everywhere there. Looks as if the flood danger's over." "Humph. That's cheerful." He helped her adjust mosquito netting over the child's crib which had been placed on the grass. "Another question. Who knows most about the geography of the country around here?"

She thought a moment. "Senhor de Laurenceo or Senhor Cojoseria. I'd say Laurenceo would undoubtedly have been the best for you. Nice chap, too. Like him very much. But unfortunately he moved away from her about six months ago and lives about thirty miles down the river now. Cojoseria, I don't know so well. He seems pleasant enough to talk to, though some of his fellow Brazilians haven't a very high opinion of him. But he does know the country and he is nearby. Just a few miles past my place at Villapa. Do you want to see him?"

"Yes, I want to have a little talk." He drew out his watch. "If it wasn't so late, I'd go out there this afternoon. I'll make it first thing in the morning." His blond brows knitted. "Mighty sorry about that boat. If it doesn't come Friday we can't wait for it any longer. We'll have to get you and Tinky out some other way. Judging by appearances, things have quieted considerably. But appearances are the one thing I never trust."

The remainder of the day passed without incident. In the morning he set off alone to visit the fazenda of Senhor Cojoseria. Passing Villapa on the way, he stopped for a moment to converse with Wilson, the carrot-faced superintendent of ELISE's fazenda, then rode on.

The servant of Cojoseria's white, luxurious home who greeted him said that his master had gone to inspect one of his rubber developments up the river and would not return for at least a week.

VILAK rode back the way he had come. He neared the castanhe trees which bordered the driveway of the fazenda. To his surprise, he saw ELISE hurry forward from between the trees to meet him. Her lips were gray, drawn. "Tinky's gone again," she said quietly.

He leaped from his horse and took her hand. He pressed it gently. "Steady, steady," he murmured. She smiled wanly. "No, I'm not going to break down this time the way I did before. I know that it doesn't accomplish anything. Just makes matters harder for you."

"Good girl. Don't worry. We'll find him. The way we did before." Still holding her hand, he took his horse's bridle, and began to walk toward the house. "Tell me, what happened, if it isn't too hard. Perhaps you'd better wait a minute or two."

"No, I'll tell you now. I've been waiting here to tell you. I'll not permit myself to break down again."

With an effort she drew herself erect. "It was practically the same this time as it was before. Tinky was in his bed outside, under the trees. Hannah was taking care of him, for I had some things to do in the house. She got up to get him a drink. You know where we keep the distilled water. On the back veranda, just around the corner of the house from where Tinky was lying, not more than thirty or forty feet away at the most.

"Hannah got the drink—it may have taken a few seconds longer than usual because she had to open a new bottle—and hurried back with it toward the trees. She stooped over the bed. And saw that it was empty cot, then on the ground. "You saw no one lurking around the house?"

"No one. Just the same way as when the rifles disappeared. No footprints of anyone we don't know. Nothing, I looked closely."

They reached the cluster of palm trees under whose shade the child had rested. The old man, who had been on the veranda, came forward to meet them. VILAK looked at the empty cot, then on the ground about. In it were three sets of footprints, one narrow and delicate, which he at once recognized as the impression made by ELISE's pointed shoes, another flat and hellish, the mark made by the slippers of Hannah. The third was the print of a man's working shoe, broad, squareish.

VILAK looked at this closely. "Schwartz has been here, hasn't he?"

ELISE nodded. "Yes. He came when I was taking care of the baby to find out whether I had decided on some changes we had been considering in the warehouse."

"Humph." He stooped, searched among the leaves drifting on the ground, then picked up something and put it carefully in his pocket. A moment later he was quickly following a strip of trees which led to the road as he had done after the child's first disappearance.

He reached the highway and after considerable examination found the print of a horse's hoof which led to the trees and then away. Mounting, with ELISE and the old man on their horses beside him, he began following the trail. For four hours he rode, his eyes ever on the ground, through dense woods, along the edge of seething swamps, past long cliffs of brilliant volcanic rock, over a stretch of green upland where the grass on either side was high as a man's head.

At last, as the setting of the sun was about to put a swift end to their hunting, they reached a narrow swamp which quickly ended and gave way on all sides to matted jungle. Here the trail of the horse's hoofs ended. But new prints, the confused footprints of three or four men some apparently with naked feet, showed at the beginning of a narrow path that had been freshly cut in the tangle of vegetation.

VILAK dismounted. "Chap got down here. Friends here waiting for him. Let his horse go, and they all went off into that."

He peered into the tangled murkiness where the new path led. He chewed his lip. "No chance of following them any more today. Be night in fifteen minutes. I hate to stop, but you know how absolutely futile it is to try to search the jungle at night. Worst than futile. We'd only obliterate the trail. Probably haven't gone far. Get some beaters and come out first thing in the morning. Better for us in that wilderness if we have some natives who know the country. They can pick up a trail where, trained as I am, even I'd lose it. And they can spread out and increase the radius of our search if the trail comes to an end. The chaps ahead know where they're going, and we don't."

He turned to ELISE and pressed her hand again. "Don't you worry about this delay. It'll be all right. Just a little time and we'll find him."

The lines in her delicate face had deepened. "I know you will," she said.

The sun sank behind the horizon as they turned their horses homeward. Back at the fazenda, ELISE selected twenty of the best laborers in her employ, and ordered them to be ready at dawn. Streaks of sunlight were beginning to show faintly over the distant mountains when the party set out.

VILAK, ELISE and the old man rode ahead. Behind them tramped twenty picturesquely assorted negroes, half-breeds and Indians, some clad in a cheap red cotton shirt and trousers, some in nothing but the trousers, some in a single robe-like garment made of dirty burlap.

Here a gigantic black chattered with a chocolate-skinned pigmy who hardly reached his shoulder; there a ponderous mulatto argued with a withered old Indian whose gaunt ribs showed clearly through his tawny skin. All carried machetes for cutting the brush, a few carried short spears in case of an encounter with the jaguars which were known to infest the neighborhood.

They reached the newly cut path by the swamp which VILAK had marked with a notch in a mango tree. They entered the dark, gloomy fastness.

Paulos, the gigantic black, who was one of the ranch sub-foremen, with the chocolate colored pigmy went ahead to swing their machetes at any twisted lianas, or call out the direction if the path seemed to fail. But there was little work for them to do. Those who had passed the day before had taken no pains to conceal their course; there was always a broken branch or crushed leaf under foot to point the way. They traveled swiftly until noon; the trail showed no signs of ending. VILAK looked at his compass. "Due west," he said. "Almost a straight line."

(To Be Continued)

Tinky is not found, and VILAK prepares for a long journey. It will take that long, he thinks, to reach the child.

BREA

BREA, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Clair Davidson, of West Date street, and Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins and daughter, of West Cedar street, left Saturday morning for a three weeks trip that will take them north as far as Washington and Oregon. They are going to stop enroute and camp and fish.

Mrs. S. K. Pell and daughter, Emily Sue, of Madera, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Meissner of South Orange avenue for a few weeks. Mrs. Pell is the cousin of Mrs. Meissner. Mr. Pell will stop on his return from San Diego and visit for a few weeks.

Mrs. Beatrice Livingston and daughter, Ruth, of West Ash street, left Sunday morning for Berkeley, where Miss Ruth will enter college in a few days. School opens August 8.

Ruth was editor of the annual of Brea-Olinda this year and a member of the young women's Sunday school class of the Congregational church. Mrs. Livingston has been active in social affairs here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Willis, of Fullerton, accompanied them to Berkeley where they will see them located, after which they will resume their motor trip to Oregon, where they will visit old friends for several weeks. Mr. Willis is employed at the Fullerton union high school.

The Misses Dorris and Maxine Massey and Thelma Rankin, Frank Holly, Melvin Rankin and Warren Moran motored to Long Beach Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a swim in the ocean.

Fred D. Baker, of Garden Grove, formerly of Brea, called on friends here Sunday. He called to see Ted McGraw, who has been ill for some time. McGraw is recovering.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Williams, of South Pomona avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fentress, of Los Angeles; Dale Landis and Mrs. Grace Stone, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Stella Keene, of South Orange avenue, accompanied some friends to Los Angeles Sunday.

Here your watch will get individual attention. Remember I specialize.

ONLY $4 MORE

I realize it is difficult for those who are not in constant touch with the modern intense development in the automobile construction to grasp what has really been accomplished in this gigantic business in the past half year.

For several years there has been a very definite demand in the low-priced field for smoothness and flexibility that is not obtainable in a four-cylinder car.

Recognizing this trend in public demand, Chevrolet began four and a half years ago, testing, proving, and perfecting a Six. Actually hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent in this work. More than a million miles of actual driving on the great General Motors Proving Ground, over every imaginable kind of road, to prove for certain that it was right before one was put on the market.

You may strongly doubt a satisfactory six can be built for so low a price. It has now been done . . . for the first time in history. We all know volume makes for low cost in production, hence under the Chevrolet policy the saving is passed on to you.

Over 900,000 Chevrolet Sixes have been built and sold since January 1 of this year, and as an illustration how this tremendous volume can and does affect the price to you . . . the Chevrolet Six Coupe sells for $732.00, delivered here . . . only $4.00 more than the 1928 four-cylinder coupe.

These 900,000 owners are satisfied owners. There are hundreds of them here in Orange county; ask any of them, they will tell you truthfully that the Chevrolet Six is a proven automobile and they are delighted with it.

I want you to drive this Six yourself . . . I want you to feel its smoothness and flexibility, its absence from vibration and rumble, its 70 miles per hour if you need it, and I want you to see its scores of advanced features . . . only found in high grade cars . . . and for only $4.00 more.

Come in . . . absolutely no obligation or annoyance.

BAND CONCERT WILL FEATURE SPANISH MUSIC

D. C. Clanton, director of the Santa Ana Municipal band, announced today that an all-Spanish program, composed of typical Spanish favorites, would be featured at the regular concert to be offered by the band in Birch park at 7:30 p. m., Thursday.

Especially interesting will be the premiere Santa Ana presentation of the overture from the Spanish opera, "El Guarany," by Carlos Gomes, noted Brazilian composer. Gomes was born in Campinas, in 1839, his death occurring in Para, in 1896. Gomes is especially noted as an operatic composer. He received his training from the Rio de Janeiro conservatory, later studying with Rossi in Milan, Italy. At 22 he began to produce operas. "El Guarany" was produced in 1870, when Gomes was 31. His other operatic works, most of which were composed in Italy, include "Fosca" (1873), "Salvador Rosa" (1874), "Maria Tudor" (1875), "La Schiava" (1889) and "Condor" (1891). He also composed the hymn "El Saluto del Brasile" (1876) for the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, and the cantata "Colombo," in 1892, as well as numerous choruses, songs and piano pieces.

"La Feria," a modern Spanish suite of richly colorful character, composed by Paul Lacombe, also will be featured by the band. The opening movement, "Los Toros," is followed by "La Reja Serenade," the suite closing with a third movement in waltz form, "La Zarzuela," composing a triple selection of much charm.

Paul Lacombe was born in France in 1838 and is especially noted as a composer of operettas, having also produced three orchestral suites, considerable chamber music and over 20 songs and piano pieces. He is the composer of the popular "L'Estudiantine."

Other popular Spanish numbers to be heard Thursday night include the favorite "La Paloma" (Tradier) and "La Golondrina" (Serradel), "Horas de Melancholia" (Sad Hours) also by Serradel, "Spanish Wedding Serenade" by Pedro Silva, and Rosey's sparkling "Valse Espagnola."

Miss Ione Maas, talented young soprano, of Anaheim, will appear as soloist Thursday night and will be heard in typically Spanish songs. Miss Maas, a pupil of Carl Silbert, formerly leading tenor with prominent opera companies both in the east and Europe and now head of the vocal department at Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, recently signed a contract to appear in a prominent role in an operetta now being planned by a leading Hollywood motion picture company. Miss Maas possesses a rich soprano voice of unusual range and power.

"Without doubt this Spanish program will prove very popular," Clanton stated. "The vivid and exotic character of Spanish music has made it widely loved the world over."

DELHI SECTION NOW LEGALLY PART OF S. A.

The Delhi addition now is officially part of the city of Santa Ana.

Final steps in the legal procedure were taken last night, at the city council meeting, with the receipt of the formal certificate from Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state, and its acceptance by the council.

Police and fire protection and other forms of regular city service will be inaugurated in the new district commencing August 22, when the ordinance passed by the council, last month goes into effect.

The communication received by the council last night from the state of California, certified that the district was a part of the city in accordance with an election, the canvass of which had been duly made, and that the certificate was issued pursuant to state laws governing the annexation of territory.

No further protests have been made by the group of residents and property owners of the district who made a strenuous protest following the election, claiming that there had been fraud and forgery in the preliminary proceedings preparatory to the election.

MONEY SAVED BY GAS ENGINE TOLD BY KNOX

Recent news articles emanating from the city offices on the relative merits of gas engine generated and purchased electric power have caused considerable comment, according to City Manager Knox, who today, for the purpose of enlightening the rate payer, made the following statement:

"To determine accurately the difference in pumped water costs to the city, we have gone over our records for one and one-half years and taking the months where the amount of water pumped at both the electrically operated and gas engine driven plants was comparatively the same, we find the Bristol street engine plant to be costing about one-half per thousand gallons of water delivered. The wells, pumps and horse power are similar.

"Trading one of the largest and most advantageous months for comparison of both types of power, August to September, of last year, one of our heaviest pumping seasons, the total cost under electric schedule and including labor, interest and depreciation charges, was $1628.46 for 63,912,000 gallons of water. For the same period and with the same fixed charges added we pumped 75,046,000 gallons, over 11,000,000 more gallons, at Bristol street engine plant at a total cost of $1,609.20. Therefore the difference was $614.26, or, figured in cost per thousand gallons, the saving was $750.46 for the 30 days.

"The subject of possible use of engine driven generators for supplying additional ornamental lighting and city power also is a vital matter to the city at this time and it is solely for the purpose of effecting the greatest economy to the city that the subject is discussed by the council. We are confident that from our experiences with both types of power that at least $1,500 per month can be saved by generating our own power and in this way we arrive at the $17,000 to $20,000 per annum which has been quoted in considering the proposal made by the engine manufacturers."

Pointing out that a lower electric rate had been offered the city than at present in use, Knox further explained that comparisons with water power costs showed a difference of only three mills per 1000 gallons and "we are not interested with such nominal reductions as we should have been enjoying them long ago, and I will again repeat that for the furtherance of the city's street lighting program and general power requirements we will be compelled to operate more economically and the natural gas engine seems to be the solution. No bond issue or material investment by the city is necessary under the proposed plan."

PROCLAMATION

It is with unusual interest and enthusiasm that I call upon the people of Santa Ana to join in celebrating Greater Movie Season for 1929-30. While this has been an annual institution established some years ago for the purpose of bringing out greater and better motion pictures, the 1929 Greater Movie Season commands an added interest because of that remarkable new notable scientific and artistic development. The science of talking and sound motion pictures which has been definitely established during the past few months.

Therefore, I wish to commend our Santa Ana theaters for this progressive enterprise and urge the citizens of Santa Ana to lend their co-operation in the observance of this event.

F. L. PURINTON,
Mayor.

U. P. WILL OPEN NEW QUARTERS ON TOMORROW

The new Union Pacific office, at 305 North Main street, will be formally opened tomorrow, according to announcement made today by the personnel of the office, W. A. Shook, general agent; William M. McPherson, city freight and passenger agents, and R. W. Bland, clerk.

Santa Anans are invited to inspect the new Santa Ana transportation headquarters, equipped to serve the public in all passenger and freight matters, tickets and Pullman reservations.

Several Union Pacific officials from Los Angeles are expected to attend the opening.

An interesting feature of the day will be the exhibition of one of the new Union Pacific deluxe motor coaches, a new transportation facility, now being operated between Anaheim, Fullerton and La Habra, in Orange county, and the new East Los Angeles passenger station, opened June 9.

B. P. W. IS TOLD FUNDS NEED OF PREVENTORIUM

That the Orange County Preventorium, which, under the direction of countless departments, both county and state, and subject to "more rules and regulations than Heinz has pickles," achieves an importance in the county health program that is invaluable and should be supported financially by the public was brought out in an interesting talk presented yesterday by Mrs. S. W. Stanley before the Business and Professional Women's club at its meeting in St. Ann's Inn.

In her talk, Mrs. Stanley told of the increased expenses of operation as a year-around institution instead of the summer health camp which formerly prevailed, and stated that when the year's expenses were totaled, on June 1, it was found that the camp was back over $900 on expenses. Last year's sale of Christmas seals, which is depended on for funds for maintenance of the preventorium, was far smaller than anticipated, leaving the Tuberculosis association in dire need of funds.

It took $7500 to equip the preventorium for an all-year institution and Mrs. Stanley explained many of the methods by which retrenchment is practiced and children are cared for regardless of the ability of their parent to pay for such care. She told of the great amount of good done individual cases according to her own personal knowledge and of the difficulty in applying rules of business to such personal cases and refusing the advantages of the preventorium to children whose parents are unable to pay for their care there.

In addition to the speaker, the August program chairman, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, introduced a special feature by distributing envelopes of questions to such members as had returned from recent vacations. The questions were designed to add gaiety to the luncheon and were answered by Mrs. Laura Murray, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mrs. Laura McNaught, Mrs. Hazel Northcross, Miss Lorraine French, Miss Nancy Elder, Miss Lena Thomas, Miss Martha Whitson, Miss Harriett Whidden, Mrs. Leslie Eckel and Miss Lee Patton.

Among announcements made by Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, president, was that of an invitation from the recently organized San Clemente B. and P. W. to a county get-together in the Spanish Village, on Sunday, August 11. Swimming in the beach club plunge will be followed by luncheon at Travallign's cafe and an afternoon of sight-seeing. Another anticipated future date is Tuesday, August 20, when all Santa Ana service clubs will join in a luncheon at St. Ann's Inn, where they will be addressed by Gov. C. C. Young on "State Finances."

INSPECT DECORATIONS

CITY'S PRINTING IS AWARDED CAMPBELL

Bids for contracts for city printing were opened by the council at its regular meeting last night in the city hall. Four bids for printing were submitted.

The city printing for the ensuing year will be handled by Gilbert P. Campbell, following the action of the board, which awarded the contract to him as low bidder. The contract price which he submitted was $739.30, which was approximately $120 less than the next lowest figure, $859.50, which was submitted by the Santa Ana Printing company, which held the contract last year.

Other bids for the city printing were submitted by Dennis Printers, at $910.75, and Bramley Printing company, at $997.90.

CLAIM PROCESS INJURIOUS TO CITY'S HEALTH

Protest against the operation of walnut dusting outfits in the city limits at late hours of the night was made to the city council last night by J. E. Lloyd, of 610 East Santa Clara avenue, who said he represented a group of citizens in the northeast section of the city.

Lloyd asserted that the outfits have been particularly troublesome in that neighborhood for the last few weeks and have been operating with a machine making a noise like a fire siren and emitting thick clouds of dust that hung over the neighborhood for hours after the dusting is completed. Stress was laid on the fact that the crews operated late at night, often working until after 1 a. m.

In the presentation of the objection and request that the city take some action to regulate the practice in consideration of the citizens of the city, Lloyd declared that the dust used is injurious to the membranes of the nose and throat and that it is composed of lime dust, arsenate of lead and nicotine sulphate; that it was intended for use in controlling the codling moth, and that he had been informed by horticultural authorities that spraying was more effective than dusting, although more expensive.

The council ordered the matter taken up with the horticultural commissioner by the city manager, after expressing the opinion that the city might be powerless to prevent such action and indicating that such preventive measures were necessary for the protection of the walnut growing industry. It expressed a desire to co-operate in the abatement of the nuisance that was being protested if it could be done without interfering with the requirements of the horticultural commission.

First M. E. Chapel Is Setting for Pretty Wedding Service

Wearing a dainty gown of rose chiffon with accessories to harmonize, Miss Mildred Foster, pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster of 1135 South Birch street, became the bride of William Dugger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dugger of 608 Cypress avenue, yesterday afternoon at a simple service that took place in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Hazel Taylor, who wore blue georgette. Clarence Higgins of Orange served Mr. Dugger as best man.

Following the impressive service that was read by the Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the church, a short reception was held before the couple left for a short honeymoon and when they return they will make their home in Long Beach where Mr. Dugger is connected with the Associated Telephone company.

Mr. Dugger is well known in this city where his athletic career has been followed with interest. In high school he was a star on the football team and he played full-back on the Santa Ana junior college eleven in 1928. Since his graduation he has played on several teams in the night baseball league here and in Long Beach.

His bride has lived in this city for a number of years, coming here with her family from Phoenix, Ariz. She is a graduate of the local schools.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Latsen of 1624 West Third street have returned from a vacation trip which took them to San Francisco, Crescent City, Grants Pass, Crater Lake, and Klamath Falls. They returned by way of Sacramento and the San Joaquin valley.

Mrs. Frances Howell of 606 East Pine street has returned from a short vacation at Hemet and Colton.

Miss Mabel Harvey of the Los Angeles City clinic spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Harvey of 806 Lacy street.

Charles Severin, of the Santa Ana post office, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mitchell and their daughter of 1056 West Sixth street have gone to San Diego where Mr. Mitchell will attend the convention of the American Legion. Returning from there they will go to Catalina for several days.

Fred Humiston, son of F. L. Humiston of 1907 North Main street, left today by boat for San Francisco where he will join his sister, Miss Genevieve Humiston, and the two will return to Santa Ana by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Livingston of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, visited Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson of 1522 North Broadway last night. Mrs. Livingston returned to this state last Sunday from an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Puckett of Fort Stockton, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Yost and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yost, all of Santa Ana, left today for an automobile trip to the Grand Canyon.

Victor Morrison and Norman Kress have returned from an automobile trip to the Sequoia park, Yosemite and San Francisco.

SLEEVELESS FROCKS OF INTRICATE CUT

Nineteen Santa Ana Girls to Attend Y. W. Camp

A group of merry Santa Ana girls left here this morning for the San Bernardino mountains where they will spend the next ten days at Camp Osceola under the leadership of Miss Fern Sumner of Orange.

The camp will be attended by senior high school girls throughout the county and will follow the same lines laid down by Miss Dorothy Cartwright of this city for the Junior high school girls who will return tonight from a ten days' vacation there.

Those who are attending the camp from this city, according to Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. C. A. secretary, are Miss Evelyn Adams, Miss Marjorie Adams, Miss Catherine Bennett, Miss Eunice Bright, Miss Irene Boyer, Miss Margaret Guthrie, Miss Helen Slabaugh, Miss Helen Bower, Miss Helen Wieseman, Miss Mary Nau, Miss Margaret Scott, Miss Rebecca McPeak, Miss Enid Bowels, Miss Janet Lutes, Miss Beatrice Rankin, Miss Betty Paul, Miss Marguerite Lewis, Miss Emma Tannenbaum and Miss Marion Parsons.

Talented Dancers Visit Homes in This City

Old Home week has been observed during the past several days at the Putnam School of Dancing as four former pupils of Mrs. Putnam have been in Santa Ana this week and have visited at the school.

Among them are Miss Peggy Bronson who has been dancing in the Fanchon and Marco idea, "Speed," and Miss Marriet Brackett who has been playing with Fanchon and Marco in New York but who is home now on account of illness.

The other two pupils of the school who have been home this week are Betty Joan Koster and Blossom Helen Oreck who are at the Fox Hill Studios in Hollywood.

Miss Vera Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison of 617 North Garvey street, was a charming hostess Sunday morning at a prettily appointed breakfast given in honor of her week-end guests, Miss Billy George of Hollywood, and Miss Dorothy Bradshaw of Los Angeles.

Those who were present for the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, Miss Vera Morrison, Miss Dorothy Bradshaw, Ralph Bell, Rolly Red and Gene Denny.

Later in the morning the young people motored to Emerald Bay where they enjoyed a swim, followed by lunch on the sands.

Two Pretty Parties Planned for August
Cards have been sent out for two bridge parties both of which will be among the most delightful affairs of the month.

The first will take place on Wednesday afternoon, August 14, when Mrs. Clarence Gustlin of 816 North Main street and Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth of 205 West Twentieth street will entertain at the Balboa Beach cottage of Mrs. Gustlin's mother, Mrs. J. R. Medlock.

Mrs. W. H. Haddon and Mrs. Leonard C. Swales of 930 South Broadway will be hostesses at a bridge luncheon at Mrs. Haddon's home at 1014 French street on the afternoon of August 20.

Mrs. Kellogg Honored At Afternoon of Bridge

Mrs. Robert Gay of 2415 North Main street was hostess Saturday afternoon at a delightfully appointed little bridge party given in honor of Mrs. Will S. Kellogg who left today for New York city where she and Mr. Kellogg are planning to attend Columbia university for the coming year.

Unique talents were in the lovely colors expressed in the several bouquets of gladioluses arranged about the rooms and when their scores were added at the close of the afternoon it was found that Mrs. Edward Franzen had been the luckiest at cards and she was presented with an attractive gift. Mrs. Kellogg received a gift that will be useful on her trip east.

Mrs. Gay's guests included Mrs. Kellogg, Miss Helen Gancy, Miss Henrietta Horn, Miss Josephine Eilers, Mrs. Edward Franzen, Mrs. W. Cray of Santa Ana, Mrs. W. B. Rochester of Costa Mesa, and Mrs. W. B. Hale of Orange.

Lindseys Return from Trip Through East

C. D. Lindsey, traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe system, southern territory, and his daughter, Miss Pauline Lindsey of East Chapman street, Orange, returned yesterday from a several weeks' trip through Kansas and Illinois. Mr. Lindsey and Miss Lindsey visited the Lindsey home in Illinois which was built in 1838 and is still occupied by descendants of the builder.

On the return trip, the two visited the Grand Canyon and other points of interest in Arizona, passing through 11 states in the course of the trip. Farm conditions in Illinois are looking very fine, according to Lindsey; but crops in Kansas are poor, he stated.

Santa Ana Man Weds Talbert Girl Sunday

The marriage of Miss Helen Wardlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wardlow of Talbert, to Raymond Burns Jr., of Santa Ana, was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the home of the Rev. Father Connelly, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic church.

Miss Wardlow was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Wardlow, while Mr. Burns' brother, Roy Burns, acted as best man. The bride was lovely in an ensemble of green georgette worn with a becoming picture hat and other accessories of tan.

Attending the wedding were Mrs. Burns' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wardlow, Miss Louise Wardlow, Miss Martha Wardlow, Miss Polly Wardlow, Miss Mildred Wardlow, Floyd Wardlow, Lloyd Wardlow of Talbert; Mr. Burns' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burns, and Roy Burns of Santa Ana.

A delightful reception and dinner was enjoyed following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burns.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Women of the United Presbyterian church will hold an all day meeting at the church tomorrow. The Aid society will meet at 10:00 a. m. and luncheon will be served at noon. At the Missionary meeting, 1:30 p. m., Mrs. H. W. Stewart of Whittier will tell of her experience in Egypt. Mrs. Stewart was a teacher in the Fowler Orphanage there last year. Those having gifts or money for the Christmas boxes to be sent to the Russell family have been requested to bring them to tomorrow's meeting.

Calumpit auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, will hold a business meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Tustin W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Utt, Lemon Heights. Those planning to be present are requested to meet at Main and D streets, Tustin, at 1:15 o'clock so that those having extra room in their cars may take members who have no transportation.

County Federation Holds Board Meeting In Costa Mesa

Marking the second executive board meeting of the new club year, 64 delegates of the various federated women's clubs of the county met in the Friday Afternoon clubhouse at Costa Mesa yesterday where they were greeted by 10 members of the hostess club.

The meeting opened at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Joseph L. Thurston, of Laguna Beach, recently elected president of the federation, in the chair. Mrs. Thurston was ably assisted by the vice president, Mrs. R. E. Downs, of Huntington Beach.

An early feature of the business program was the reading of a letter from State President Mrs. W. W. Slayden, in which she stated that she expected to be in touch with the Orange county body early in February. Action was taken to extend to Mrs. Slayden an invitation to be present at the executive board meeting of February 5, which meeting will be held in the Orange Women's clubhouse. The business of the board will be executed in the morning hours and following the luncheon the afternoon will be turned into a reception for Mrs. Slayden, every club women in the county being invited at this time to meet the state president.

For the benefit of the incoming club presidents and the new county chairman, Mrs. Thurston asked Mrs. Downs to read the federation constitution, following which questions concerning the article were asked and answered.

Discussion of the suggestion made at a southern district meeting held in Corona recently, to the effect that the five counties making up the southern district forego their annual year books, lending their financial aid instead to a general district year book, met with disfavor, the executive body voting to retain the year book for Orange county, but to give financial aid, if needed for this purpose, to the district. For the past two years the district has had no year book, a club magazine having been published in its place, reaching those interested each month.

Revealing interesting plans that give promise of worth while activity, reports were given by most of the county chairmen.

A surplus having arisen in the general funds of the county federation, the executive board voted that $50 of this amount be appropriated for the purpose of purchasing material for the new year books, which are to appear early in September.

Eight official reciprocal day programs are to appear in these year books, the first of which will be held in Santa Ana on October 28, at the Ebell club.

Following the three-course luncheon served by the hostess club, the club assemblage was favored by several violin selections by Vladimir Lenski who is leaving shortly for a concert tour abroad. An inspiring talk on the wholesomeness of yachting as a sport for young and old was given by Commodore Beeks of the Newport Beach Yacht club. He extended an invitation to all to be present at the tournament of lights in the bay district of Orange county on August 10.

Much of the afternoon was given over to discussion of ways and means of assisting the Orange County Health camp in the Santa Ana mountains, following earnest appeals made by Mrs. Albert Launer, junior past president of the federation, and Mrs. S. W. Stanley, a member of supervising board of the health institution.

Mrs. Thurston, following the discussion, named a committee of which Mrs. M. J. Marks of Santa Ana is chairman, and which includes Mrs. Launer, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. A. P. Nelson, to interview the board of supervisors with a view to securing an appropriation from the county funds for the health camp.

The next meeting of the executive board will be held in Brea on October 5, with the Brea Women's club as hostess committee. The club rooms are in the Masonic hall on South Pomona ave.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

The city of Toledo, Ohio, is caring through one of its child welfare agencies for a small baby whose parents refuse to care for it. The mother insisted on leaving the child in the hospital where it. The mother insisted on leaving the child in the hospital where it.

Her explanation was that, nearing middle age, she was entitled to respite from child caring; that she had raised several children; that she and her husband had planned a peaceful old age, and that she refused once more to dedicate a score of years to the care of a child.

WELL, WELL!
There is a doughnut for thought of various kinds in the incident. Our first reaction is surprise at "the abnormality" of parents, a mother, especially, who could thus abandon her own child.

Perhaps, however, the little tale is really a tribute to the "normalcy" of life. Nature designed men and women for parenthood in their early years. A child born in the 40's is more unnatural than natural. Perhaps the reaction of the Toledo mother is equally natural. On the other hand, since nature's main job is to get the child cared for in their individual case, natural or unnatural, this reaction does seem queer.

EASY!
Another little angle of the story is a wonder that parents, for a mere whim of like or dislike, can be relieved of the responsibilities of parenthood. If other cities and states are as willing to relieve all unwilling parents of their job, we will probably find plenty who deviate from the so-called "normal" to put quite a burden upon the taxpayers.

PAPA DID IT?
Speaking of parenthood, here's a father, James Morgan Holt, 32, of Dayton, O., held for investigation by police for the shooting of his eight-year-old son, Leroy Robert. The boy's mother was upstairs when she heard the shot and went down to find her son dead and her husband standing by with a gun in his hand.

He said he was showing his pistol to the boy when it went off. His story is probably true. But a mother would never have been held on the same evidence. Even police would just have assumed that a mother wouldn't have really killed her son, and let it go at that. Fathers could and have been known to.

NO SCHOOL?
Chicago has been threatening "no school for our kids" for a long time. The Chicago School Board says that it must sell $40,000,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants, money which it says it must have before the next tax payments if the schools open in the fall.

The City Council refuses to permit the sale. While it seems preposterous that any huge American city should close its schools, it is no more surprising than other things which seem to occur in this same city. You couldn't make even a Hot-tentot believe in the open machine gun gang warfare, either. But it's there.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Melba Toast, And How to Make It

Melba toast is the best form in which the dieter can eat bread. There are two reasons for this. The first is that the long, slow toasting changes the bread starch into a more digestible form of carbohydrate.

The second, and more important to the "reducer" is that one eats less of the brittle toast than of fresh bread and consequently cuts down the carbohydrate intake. With the new 18-day diet sweeping the country it is well to know how to make Melba toast and to keep it on hand in sufficient quantity.

Take a loaf of sandwich bread two days old, cut the slices an eighth of an inch thick and place them on the two racks in the baking oven. Have the heat set for 325 degrees F. and as soon as the bread begins to dry out and turn a very pale brown reduce the heat to 250 degrees F. and keep the oven on for an hour. Store in paper sacks in a dry cupboard. Attractive breadsticks to serve with salad and soup can be made from Melba toast. Trim off crusts and cut the bread in strips before toasting. Lay them in pans to toast. Croutons, inch-squares of toast, are made in like manner.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Snowball Salad
1 cup dried fresh pears or the same canned
1 cup white cherries, halved and stoned
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 cups dried marshmallows
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 egg yolks
1½ cup top milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup whipping cream
Pinch of salt

The snowball appeal comes from the manner in which the salad is served after freezing; the portions are taken in an ice-cream scoop and laid on lettuce with the round side up. . . white and icy-cold, it has the appearance of snow.

Beat the egg yolks, sugar and pinch of salt to a froth, add to the hot milk and stir until a custard forms. Take from the fire and when cool add the diced marshmallows and the various fruits, well drained. The lemon juice is added last of all.

Whip the cream stiff and mix thoroughly with the fruit custard, pour into mold and put in the freezing chamber of the refrigerator for four hours. Serve on hearts of lettuce with mayonaisse thinned with cream and pineapple juice.

The salad may be frozen by packing it into two small molds, or cans, and burying in crushed ice and rock salt. Seal the line of the lid with a strip of cloth dipped in paraffin, otherwise salt water is apt to find its way into the mold.

The salad serves 10 people and the individual calorie total is 350. This includes the mayonaisse served with the salad. The cream, marshmallows and mayonaisse account for about 300 of the total, so you see this is not the salad a pleasingly plump lady should indulge in—often.

"SHOWBOAT" IS BIG ATTRACTION FOR S. A. FANS

Showboat, Universal's biggest song and dialogue picture came to Santa Ana yesterday for four days and was greeted by three full houses at the Fox-Walker theater.

Its song hits, its thrilling love story of the old Mississippi river, proved an instant appeal. The coordination of song and story effected in this picture is probably the best to come out of Hollywood, and is the reason that "Showboat" will be remembered as one of the big pictures of the year.

The story is laid a generation ago. Magnolia, the daughter of Captain Hawks, owner of a floating theater on the river, falls in love with a river gambler. He takes her to Chicago where he gambles away her money and she leaves him. She goes to New York, sings her river songs on Broadway and is immediately a great success. Her return to the river, and a happy ending for her love affair are highlights in the play.

Some wonderful songs are sung by Helen Morgan of Ziegfeld Folies and Jules Bledsoe, also a Ziegfeld product, which go to make the picture the success it is.

Fox Broadway

Perhaps no actor on or off the screen has had a more thrilling and exciting career than Victor McLaglen, starring in "The Black Watch," now showing at the Fox Broadway theater.

Some years ago McLaglen toured Canada and the United States with a vaudeville act in which he gave a wrestling exhibition with a partner and met all comers.

In one of the most important sequences of "The Black Watch," McLaglen is forced to wrestle with Walter Long. In it McLaglen had to bring into play all of his former well-known holds, for Long is an adept himself at the wrestling game. "The Black Watch," based on Talbot Mundy's story, finds McLaglen in the stellar role of "Captain Gordon King," who is sent on a secret mission at the outbreak of the war and has to bear the humiliation of his comrades believing he had asked for the transfer to evade real fighting. Myrna Loy heads the supporting cast, and the entire production is sound, that is, the characters and the evolution of the story are both seen and heard.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAJ COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The chariot race was under way and all the bunch cried loud, "Hurray!" Then Clowney shouted, "Faster, boys! Try mighty hard to win, I'm for that one who stands the test, 'cause he will prove himself the best. Don't fall out of the carts amid the clatter and the din."

"Giddap," yelled Scotty. "Come on, hound. We have to cover lots of ground. Let's beat that other dog and we will make wee Copy said. If you grow tired and start to walk, I'll be so mad I cannot talk. I want to win this race. Please do your best and make me glad."

"Yip, yip," the little dog replied. And he gave Scotty quite a ride. The other hound, however, also ran along real fast. Then, as they finished with the ride, they both came in right side by side. The race was called a tie and it was over now, at last. This satisfied most every one and all agreed that they had fun. Then Scotty said, "Where's Clowney? He has disappeared from sight. Perhaps he's playing hide and seek. Around the grounds we'll slyly peek. I'm sure that if we all look we can locate him all right."

And so they started looking round to see if Clowney could be found. They ran into the big tent and then out into the air. "Well, goodness me," wee Copy cried. "Fat Clowney sure knows how to hide. I've looked around but cannot find that fellow anywhere."

All of a sudden Scotty cried, "Hey, Tinymites! Look straight ahead. There's Clowney on a flat car, and he isn't trying to hide. On him you always can depend to find a lovely little friend." And then the Tintles saw a girl was sitting by his side.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. Its' probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

STRETCH YOUR IMAGINATION

See dear old Santa Ana five years from now. What population? Oh, sixty or seventy thousand, maybe more. Would you then like to own your home just past 12th St., a close-in, highly restricted neighborhood? Use the imagination, then secure one of our large walnut covered lots with a frontage of 58 feet and let us build you just what you've always dreamed. It won't cost so much and you'll be permanently situated. You know a few years from now this location will be considered very close to town. Look for our signs, then we'll talk it over with you.
